Treaty Signed By Wang With The Japanese

United States To Still Support Gen. Chiang Kai-Shek

BY CLARK LEE

NANKING, China, Nov. 30—(AP)—A "peace" treaty signed today by Wang Ching-Wei and the Japanese overlords who recognize him as president of a national government of China threatens to end China's existence as an independent nation if it ever can be carried into practical effect, informed foreigners said tonight.

They asserted it was tantamount to complete surrender to domination by Japan — which, however, has yet to crush the government and armies of Chiang Kai-Shek (which both Britain and the United States still continue to recognize.)

Wang and Japanese ambassador General Nobuyuki Abe signed the treaty this morning.

Although the treaty proclaims an end to the 40-months-old Chinese war and the beginning of an era of military and economic co-operation between Wang and Japan, the Japanese expect Chiang to continue the fight.

The treaty itself made clear that the Japanese will continue military operations until there is actual peace. The terms of the pact are so onerous that informed sources doubt whether either Wang or the Japanese ever will be able to attract widespread Chinese support or induce Chiang's government to cease its armed resistance.

Wang signed away, insofar as he has the power to do so—economic rights of tremendous importance, and turned over to continued Japanese military occupation large areas of China while giving also, "legal recognition" to Japanese-sponsored Manchoukuo.

Reward For Wang

CHUNGKING, China, Nov. 30—(AP)—The national government of China offered a reward of 100,000 dollar ($6,000) today for Wang Ching-Wei, head of the Japanese-recognized Nanking government, "for usurping the presidency and signing with the enemy a treaty detrimental to China's sovereignty."

Foreign Minister Wang Ching-Hui threatened cessation of normal relations with any foreign

Need Knitters On Sweaters

One hundred and fifty more European children will be kept from shivering this winter through the terrible siege of war if the 100 remaining pounds of yarn in the last Red Cross quota are taken by volunteer workers.

Mrs. Harold Dean, chairman of the knitting department for the Pettis County Chapter, points out that no more kind deed could be done, or sympathy shown during the Christmas season than to help in this work.

Many sweaters are now being knitted, but anyone who can find time to even pickup the knitting between other tasks and activities will make a happy contribution with the resulting sweater helping to keep some little child warm.

The present quota must be finished by the middle of January.

Plea To Send More Planes

LONDON, Dec. 1.—(Sunday)—(AP)—A plea to America to tighten and extend export channels "so as to insure that no vital materials get through to the enemy" was voiced tonight by Hugh Dalton, minister of economic warfare and master of Britain's blockade of Germany and Italy.

"You could refuse financial facilities to our enemies," Dalton said in a North American broadcast.

"You could immobilize all enemy ships in your port and you could decine to trade with firms in neutral countries who are friends of the enemy."

He urged America to send planes "and more planes . . . and we shall bomb their war machine to pieces."

Smith-Cotton Spiz Girls Help To Raise Funds

In Tag Day Collect $79.22 For Fight On Tuberculosis

The sum of $79.22 was realized at the Pettis County Tuberculosis Society's Tag Day Saturday, a very fine amount and greatly appreciated by the leaders of the movement in the county.

The Spiz girls of Smith-Cotton high school "tagged" in the downtown district during the day and were replaced by another group late in the evening who continued "tagging" until 9 o'clock last night. They were under the supervision of Mrs. Frank Leach and her assistants, Mrs. Jack Howard and Mrs. Philip McLaughlin.

The Spiz girls, who volunteer for this civic project, are sponsored by Miss Agnes Sullivan and Mrs. Mildred Faulkner, members of the Smith-Cotton high school faculty.

Awards Are Made

Miss Gloria Jean Warren received an award for having obtained the largest amount of any one individual solicitor, and she and her partner, Miss Mary Rogers an award for the team bringing in the largest amount of money, $13.58. Miss Anna May Gerster and Miss Elleta Wheeler were members of the team receiving the second award, with $13.21, and Miss Dorothy Ellis was high among the members of the group who tagged in the later part of the day.

The Spiz girls who solicited were, Anna May Gerster, Elleta Wheeler, Doris Russell, Betty Kullman, Virginia Burrus, Kathryn Fauler, Nellie McVey, Marjorine Payne, Eleanor Leiter, Eileen Kahrs, Mary F. Smith, Mildred Johnson, Mary Alys Griessen, Rita Woodford, Betty Bob Scotten, Mary Rogers, Gloria Jean Warren, Doris Boone, Betty Collins and Virginia Milburn.

Those who solicited during the late afternoon and at night were, Flora and Bethal Baldwin, Dorothy Ellis, Betty Homen, Edith Lutjin, and Helen Paxton.

The Tuberculosis Society has done some very fine work in Pettis County. There have been 1160 tuberculin tests made and where the result has been positive, X-ray pictures have been sent to Mount Vernon for further examinations. In cases where it was found the disease was active, arrangements were made for treatment, and those who have had occasion to know some of the follow up work this society has done, realize it is worthwhile.

Arthur M. Hoffman is president of the society, Dr. A. L. Walter, vice-president, C. L. Hanley, treasurer and Mrs. Phil Burford socretary.

Miss Reba Gum, county health nurse and Miss Betty Field, Sedalia school nurse, the doctors of the county and other nurses have been active in the work and given valuable assistance.

Broad Outline Is Presented On Raising Taxes

No Agreement On Added Revenue Or How To Get It

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30.—(AP)—President Roosevelt was represented today as desiring a tax program in the new congress which would provide sufficient revenues to meet routine peacetime expenditures, plus annual installment payments on extraordinary defense outlays.

This broad objective was reported to have been laid down by the President to congressional and treasury fiscal experts at a White House conference last night on the government's finances.

Conferees who reviewed their impressions of that meeting said that while the goal had been set, there was no agreement on how much additional revenue would be needed or just how it might be obtained.

The conference did arrive at two definite conclusions — that there should be no retroactive taxation on 1940 income of individuals or corporations, and that there should be no general sales tax.

In substance, the President's general view of fiscal policies was said to be this:

He would trim non-military expenditures to bare essentials in the new budget, leaving it up to congress to determine whether it would stay within his estimates.

Resort To Borrowing

Extraordinary defense spending probably would have to be financed through additional treasury borrowing, with an attendant increase in the present $49,000,000,000 debt limitation.

When March 15, income tax returns are tabulated along with the January returns from corporations, definite information would be available on revenues from present taxes. Estimates could be made on prospective income for the next year.

Congress then would konw how much, if any, additional revenue would be required to balance the ordinary budget. In the light of these facts, it would donsider the question of raising sufficient revenues to meet not only these ordinary expenses but to amortize the extraordinary defense outlays over a period of future years.

Among the conferees, five per cent a year was talked of as a desireable rate of amortization for these expenditures.

While the conferees preferred not to discuss figures in talking with reporters, it appeared that $10,000,000,000—previously reported to be the administration's revenue goal—might fill this program. This fiscal year's expenditures are expected to run about $13,000,000,000 of which around $4,500,000,000 are figured as extraordinary defense expenditures. Revenue are expected to total about $7,000,000,000.

At this meeting the new members, taken into the club recently, will be inducted into the organization with fitting ceremonies.

Christmas Lighting This Year Promises To Be Attractive

The committee for the Christmas lighting contest, sponsored by the Sedalia Garden clubs, met Friday afternoon, at the home of Mrs. G. W. Chambers. Plans were outlined to make this year's contest even more attractive to entrants than before. The committee hopes to have a large number of entries.

The Christmas lighting contest, has as its purpose, interesting every Sedalian in decorating his home and yard for the holiday season. It wants as many Sedalians to enter the contest as possible, but though an individual may not wish to enter the contest, it is hoped that every one will do some holiday decorating.

The slogan "Christmatize Your Home" was adopted.

Classifications Arranged

The following entry classifications were worked out with the idea in mind of being the most inclusive for all types of homes and yards:

1. Home:
Judged for general effect, with an eye of the suitability of decoration to the surroundings, and of using the surroundings themselves as a basis for the decorating scheme. For example, the utilization of foundation plantings, archways, trees, and so forth.

2. Outdoor Christmas Tree:
This may be a living evergreen tree located on the lawn. Or it may be a cut tree placed on lawn, terrace, or porch.

In order to be judged in this class, however, any one having a decorated tree to be judged must enter it classification 2, as part from other decorations.

3. Windows:
Decoration of doorways.

Information as to points that count in the judging, prizes offered for each classification, dates of entry, and so on will appear later.

The contest will open December 22, and run until January 1.

Start working on your lighting and decorating ideas now, and "Christma-tize Sedalia!"

Inaugural Of Camacho

Guards To Be On Duty After Plot To Kill Reported

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 30.—(AP)—More than 1,000 peasants armed with new rifles and cartridge belts arrived in the Mexican capital tonight in trucks from Puebla State, home of President-elect General Manuel Avila Camacho to "watch things" tomorrow when he becomes the nation's chief executive.

About 40 others armed with pistols also came here from Vera Cruz state.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 30—(AP)—Soldiers and police stood guard at strategic points in the city tonight following military action to prevent a rumored plot to assassinate President-elect Manuel Avila Camacho at his inauguration tomorrow.

Investigation of the rumor resulted in the death of Major Guillermo Garcia Gallegos last night in a volley of gunfire when he led a detail of soldiers in a raid on a meeting, which police described as "subversive," at Communist offices.

Among 55 persons arrested in the raid was Ester Chapa, who holds a responsible position in the Department of Interior. A cache of three rifles, 15 pistols, a bomb and a quantity of cartridges was seized, police said. A second shooting in which a detective was wounded occurred in a suburb where police raided a private home for hidden arms. Four more persons were arrested.

Despite the sensation caused by the reported plot, the inauguration of Avila Camacho is expected to go forward without more than minor disturbances, assistant chief of police Cesar Lara asserted. He said "last night's incident was of no real importance or significance."

Henry A. Wallace, United States vice-president-elect, will represent his country as a special ambassador at the ceremonies, scheduled for noon E.S.T. in the Chamber of Deputies.

Wallace's arrival in the capital early yesterday was marred by a demonstration of more than 200 followers of General Juan Alimazan, over whom Avila Camacho won a disputed victory in July's elections.

Orders Return Of Risk Fees

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 30—(AP)—Circuit Judge Allen C. Southern today ordered R. E. O'Malley, former Missouri superintendent of insurance, or his bondsmen to turn over to the state $85,264.44 in fees and expenses allowed during liquidation of the Manufacturing Lumbermen's Underwriters several years ago.

Judge Southern held that O'Malley, while handling liquidation of the concern as insurance superintendent, had approved "exorbitant fees and expenses" from November 12,1936, to October 19, 1937, when a report of final settlement was filed.

Of $128,912.48 expended during liquidation, Judge Southern ruled that $43,648.04 was "reasonably and properly" approved. The remainder, he held, was expended "in violation of the law", was "not beneficial to the company, and being made without court order, constituted an abuse of authority."

O'Malley was bonded for $100,000 by the Central Surety and Insurance corporation in Kansas City.

The court order directed the $85,264.44 be paid to Ray B. Lucas, present state insurance superintendent. Both Lucas and his predecessor, the late George A. S. Robertson, who had succeeded O'Malley, had filed objections to the O'Malley-approved fees.

Wide Search For Two Convicts

DAWSON, Neb., Nov. 30—(AP)—Sub-freezing temperatures and bitter winds whipped over the rough, hilly country of southeast Nebraska tonight, all but ending the efforts of a band of heavily-armed officers that searched all day for two convicts who broke out of jail at St. Joseph, Mo.

Charles C. Coates, 32, serving a life sentence for robbery, and Eugene Robinett, 26, under a two-year sentence for car theft, had eluded what was described as the largest band ever to conduct a man hunt in this area.

Sheriff Irvin Gates said most of the officers who had participated in the hunt—35 in all—had returned to their homes.

Still at the scene, however, were A. M. Olmstead, evidence officer from the prosecutor's office at St. Joseph and Deputies C. W. Watkins and L. E. Cole, both of St. Joseph.

Greeks Gain On Land And Sink Italian 'Sub'

Seize 15 Fascist Officers And 200 Men In The North

ATHENS, Nov. 30—(AP)—Greek forces smashed stubbornly resisting Italians at many points along the Albanian front today and made gains of "considerable depth," the high command reported tonight, while at sea the destroyer Aetos was reported to have sunk an Italian submarine for Greece's first naval victory of the war.

On the northern wing of the front, the high command said, Greek soldiers occupying Pogradetz, 20 miles above the captured Italian invasion base of Koritza, seized 15 Fascist officers and more than 200 enlisted men, along with six guns, 50 machine guns and "a considerable number" of howitzers.

From Pogradetz on southward to the Adriatic coast tonight's communique said, the Greeks were on the offensive, but that they were meeting with stiff Italian opposition.

In a brief communique said the 1,013-ton British built Aetos destroyed the Italian ship with depth charges after the latter fired two torpedoes at the convoy and missed. The scene and time of the action were not disclosed.

Some Italian forces retreating toward Porto Edda were declared cut off farther north by Greek operations around Argirocastro, Mussolini's southern Albanian invasion base.

(The Italians, who say they still hold Argirocastro, declared their forces held firm against Greek attacks. They reported their reinforced troops were counter-attacking north of Pogradetz, which fell to the Greeks yesterday, but reports from the Yugoslav frontier said they were withdrawing toward Elbasani, in central Albania.)

In the first month of the 34-day old war, the Greek home security ministry said the country's air raid casualties totaled 604 dead, including 74 women, 152 children. It placed the injured at 1,070.

Heavy Attack From Air On Southampton

British Report Three Bombers Of Nazis Shot Down

LONDON, Dec. 1—(Sunday)—(AP)—Nazi warplanes flew against London early today for the second time since nightfall while other German raiders were reported driven from a southwest town (presumably Southampton) "time after time" by an intense anti-aircraft barrage.

Gunfire was heard in the London area when the alarm sounded after midnight but the "all-clear" was given shortly afterward.

British informants insisted no bombs were dropped in the raids last night on the southeast town, contradicting German radio claims.

The night raid on the town followed three daylight attacks Saturday and was the eleventh in the last three days.

(A German broadcast heard in New York, said German bombing squadrons roared over Southampton dropping thousands of bombs that started eight big fires to guide subsequent raiders.)

During the afternoon, at least three German planes were shot down, as anti-aircraft guns opened fire and fast Hurricane and Spitfires rose to turn back more than 100 planes trying to break through London's defense.

The British acknowledged the loss of two planes, whose pilots they said were saved.

Bombers Shot Down

The air ministry news service announced three German bombers were shot down, and one damaged when they attacked the torpedoed destroyer Javelin as it limped to port following Friday's clash with light German naval forces. The three German des-

Find Auto Of L. Couey Wrecked

The automobile taken from Lawrence E. Couey, state highway safety engineer, at the point of a gun by two youths clad in army uniforms, was found wrecked, Friday, near Tallullah, La.

Highway patrolmen who found the wrecked car reported the possibility that the bandits may be connected with a contingent of mechanics being transferred from Rantoul, Ill.

Couey, a former Sedalian, son of Judge and Mrs. E. W. Couey of Sedalia, was on his way from Jefferson City to Kansas City Thursday afternoon, when he was stopped near the intersection of highways 40 and 65 by the two youths, who were armed. They forced him to drive through Sedalia and to the vicinity of Springfield, Mo., where they released him after taking $10 in cash. He was permitted to retain his grip and some instruments.

He was driving a new Ford car, bearing a state license.

'Martyr' Of Iron Guards Buried In Gold Casket

BUCHAREST, Nov. 30—(AP)—In a macabre climax to elaborate funeral services over the gold casket of Corneliu Zelea Codreanu, the Iron Guard's "martyred captain," every one of the 30 Iron Guardists who participated in the prison assassinations of 64 persons high in King Carol's former regime were reported reliably tonight to have "committed suicide."

At the same time, a diplomatic communication reaching strife-torn Bucharest said revolution had broken out among the 4,00,000 inhabitants of Bessarabia, the territory Rumania ceded to Russia last June 27. Widespread deaths and injuries were reported there.

The 30 Iron Guards who broke into Jilava prison this week and began their revenge blood purge against those whom they held responsible for Codreanu's death two years ago today were said to have "taken revolvers from a table and put bullets through their hearts after making a mass suicide pact."

Comparative calm reigned all day throughout Rumania, but nearly 100,000 Iron Guards headed tonight for Alba-Julia, ancient seat of Rumanian kings, where a demonstration for the return of northern Transylvania from Hungary is planned for tomorrow.

(Reports reaching the Hungarian frontier said the Iron Guard may be at the beginning of a bloody "total revenge" for the slaying of Codreanu. These dispatches said the country was on the verge of civil war.)

Tramp of Marching Feet

The tramp of marching feet echoed through Bucharest from dawn until far in the night as almost the entire Iron Guard membership turned out to bury Codreanu and his 13 slain lieutenants.

At the grave they gathered around the ornate gold coffin and promised solemnly "never to forget" the killing of their party's founder.

Iron Guard officials estimated some 150,000 green-shirted men and women were in the procession, led by Premier General Ion Antonescu, Vice-premier Horia Sima, the German, Italian and Spanish ministers.

Although King Mihai was represented only by an army officer, Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini sent two dignitaries each. (Mihai was reported in border dispatches to have fled Bucharest as a result of the week's disorders.)

Americans and Britons were absent from the ranks of diplomats attending.

Steel-helmeted German and Rumanian soldiers with fixed bayonets, generals in the white cloak of Mihai the Brave and hundreds of black-bearded priests in silken vestments were in the long procession.

Ransack Home Of J. E. Moon

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Moon, 900 East Fourteenth street, returned to their home from a trip downtown about 8 o'clock last night to find their home had been entered and ransacked. The intruder had cut open a feather bed, and the feathers were scattered all over a bedroom. Mattresses on other beds were thrown on the floor and the contents of drawers were scattered.

So far as they could determine last night nothing had been taken.

Officers found two clues, a glove and a partly smoked cigarette.

The England That Is to Be

By PAUL MANNING
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON—Win or draw, the end of this war means a new England. That's the talk these nights in the crowded subway shelters, in the factories and on the street.

Between the hours when the man in the street is co-operating in an all-out effort to win this Battle of Britain, he's thinking about a workingman's England for him after this war.

He's thinking of the day to come when there will be a revision of the educational system which will give his children greater opoprtunity to attend secondary schools, universities, even Eton and Harrow. He's talking about unemployment and the creation of something far-reaching which will ensure more jobs to more people.

Key men in the government today admit there will be sweeping changes in England's social structure after the war, but what it will be called they can't say. Some believe it will certainly not be strict capitalism and the retention of an out-and-out leisure class. Others say the change will be socialism with a new name.

But whatever it's going to be, they all agree as to the general pattern of the change.

Reith Heads Survey Group

England's director of labor supply says there will be no more sprawling cities like London. No speculative builders. No artificial land values. Land must and will be valued at its clear site value and come under national control.

Building societies will have to adjust themselves to planning and instead of financing speculative builders, revert to their original role of thrift societies for workers.

The worker will have more guaranteed employment, holidays with pay and, at the end of his life's work, retirement on an adequate income.

But one government architect, now engaged in drawing up a blueprint for a new England, states that visionary plans are fine, but putting them into practice is another matter.

"Remember what happened after the last war. The slogan was 'Homes for Heroes' and what came out of it was depressed areas, ribbon developments, jerry-building. Private profit and vested interests were put before the people's needs. That's why it is easy to make paper plans, easy to plot a fine, broad avenue through a bombed-out area. But peace is not the only essential for a planned Britain. There must be economic and social change."

Meanwhile the government has gathered together a small group of experts under Sir John Reith to survey the English scene. After the war it will be their job to present a general plan to the government for rebuilding a better Britain.

They will study the problems of rebuilding damaged towns, redistributing the industrial population, revising the educational system, starting technical and professional training courses for service men, increasing the payments of social insurance schemes and constructing new housing centers.

Trend To Socialized Medicine

One social trend plainly evident already is the speed-up of progress toward complete socialization of British medicine, brought about largely by 20 German bombs dropped on 20 hospitals.

When the long process of rehabilitation begins, private charity, mainstay of most British hospitals, will be unable to cope with the job of rebuilding.

Private charity has in fact been barely able to keep the hospitals of England going during the last 20 years. And now with every ounce of the nation's surplus wealth mobilized behind the sale of defense bonds, the going will be even harder.

During depression British medicine took a long step toward socialization with the inauguration of a plan in which employes making less than $20 a week were given near-free hospitalization.

But the greatest impetus has been total war and the government's present Emergency Hospital Plan. This scheme enrolled 200 doctors in a free service of complete medical attention to air raid victims.

The best specialists, mixed with general surgeons, are paid retaining salaries which range from $800 to $6000 a year. They are permitted to teach or practice medicine, but when called they give all time necessary to casualties.

Six Years' Work in Eight Months

The enrollment of 2000 doctors is only one part of the plan. The other facet is the establishment of a system of 109 base hospitals linked up with the 3000 now operating throughout the country, plus an army of 40,000 nurses, the reserves of the 14,000 now on active duty.

In diagram form the base hospital plan resembles a giant wheel, the hub being the big teaching centers in the heart of downtown London. The wheel is devided into 10 sections, with base hospitals on the rim as far out as 50 miles. As fast as casualties can be moved, they are shifted in ambulances to the outer bases.

To install this plan and keep it working smoothly meant establishing 1000 new operating rooms in existing hospitals, re-equipping run-down institutions, turning asylums into good receiving units, supplying, with U. S. aid, 40-million bandages and dressings, obtaining a supply of surgical instruments which would have taken during normal times 30 years an manufacture, getting 30,-600 ambulances, cars and busses to transport the casualties of war.

In short, it meant doing as much hospital equipping in eight months as the institutions supported by voluntary contributions would have done in six years.

There's talk these nights in the crowded subways in the British capital of the England that is to be, with city slums eliminated and greater educational opportunities for all children—even at Eton. Sir John Reith, inset, is in charge of the survey to bring a general plan for rebuilding Britain.

K Of C Charity All-Star Game This Afternoon

Cream Of Football Crop In Missouri And Kansas To Be Seen

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 30—(Special)—Every prospect is pleasing for the Kansas City big game of the year, the battle of Kansas and Missouri All-Stars scheduled for Rockhurst Field today. The kick-off is at 2:30, but ceremonies will precede the start of hostilities. The galaxy of stellar gridiron talent throughout Missouri and Kansas, arrayed in their distinctive All-Star uniforms will be introduced to the crowd.

As the game start nears, betting odds are even. Supporters of the Kansas contingent, coached by Don Elser, former Notre Dame star and now chief mentor of gridology at St. Benedict College, declare that the team players of the Sunflower champions may be smoother than their Missouri opponents. The fact Elser has five leading members of the Wichita university team including Clarence Howard, captain and guard, Lloyd Huff, Herschel Giles, Ray Stauffer, and Larry Wallace, is indication Elser will rely upon the Notre Dame style of play which he instructs and which Wichita also features.

There is little advance distinction in the caliber of the squads facing each other in the first annual All-Star game here. Missouri's line with George Ellis and Ray Schultz, Missouri university regulars at guard positions; and with Frank Rogers and Nelson Koerner, both Missouri School of Mines stalwarts listed as guardsmen, augmented by Gerald Eagleberger of the Springfield Teachers, insure power at those berths. Bob Wakeman, Missouri university; Carroll King, 245-pound Warrensburg Teachers giant; Bob Williams of William Jewell and Bill Kies, Cape Girardeau stalwart; formidable tackles. Dale Everly, Tiger end; Joe Strawbun, 6 foot, 5 inch Missouri School of Mines flankman, and Malcolm Gerhardt, Missouri Valley luminary, comprise an exceptional group of endmen. The Missouri backfield is studded with sensational football stars. Charles Larson, the nation's second highest scorer of the season from Culver Stockton, heads the list. Dick Cunningham, Missouri School of Mines; Joe Kurtright, captain of the Maryville Teachers and passer par excellence, plus Jerry Notowitz, Missouri university; Alva Jensen, of Rockhurst college and Bob Grider of Springfield Teachers are other shining lights.

Proceeds of the big game, above expenses will go to the Knights of Columbus Christmas basket Fund which provides food and fuel for many Kansas City families. Colorful between halves is promised with band music and prancing majorettes providing entertainment. A large crowd is expected.

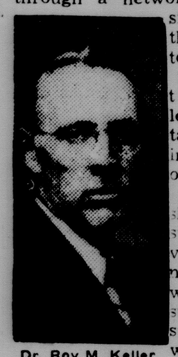
NERVE FORCE

Nerve function helps you earn your daily bread. It helps you to live. To live with all the enjoyment of life you must have health. The first prerequisite to health is normal nerve force. Nerve force is all powerful. What can prevent nerve force from functioning normally? There are of course many causes. Nerve force does its work through a network of transmission lines called the nervous system.



Dr. Roy M. Keller

Science has determined the length of time it takes for a nerve impulse to travel over a nerve. Science has shown that pressure will prevent proper nerve function, whether the pressure be soft tissue pressure within a tumor of the brain which may exert pressure on the optic nerve and destroy sight, or the pressure may be hard tissues wherein a bone may exert pressure on a nerve and prevent proper function. Whereever the pressure may occur, it is obvious that it is the duty of the doctor to keep the transmission lines open so nerve force may function properly. By doing so the chiropractor restores health.

Being Orderly Is Half Of Good Grooming

By ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff Writer

"Employees who keep their desks and filing cabinets neat and clean are more efficient workers than those who labor amid last week's unanswered mail, drawers stuffed with last year's clippings and a general air of cluttered confusion," an executive said yesterday.

He explained that energy is wasted in looking for items which should have been filed. He pointed out that one who is surrounded by disorder has a more difficult time planning work and doing it with a minimum of effort than one who works in a tidy atmosphere.

Apply the Thought To Your Grooming

The executive's idea that orderliness makes for greater efficiency is applicable to any woman who is determined to be trimly groomed all of the time.

It's easier to keep hair bright and shiny if you make it a rule always to have one clean hairbrush in a drawer of your dressing table. Easier, too, if you keep scalp tonic, liquid shampoo, curlers and hairnet in one place.

In other words, doing whatever needs to be done to hair and scalp will seem less like a terrible chore if you don't have to spend half an hour finding this and that before you can begin.

Keep makeup for very day use in one small drawer or in a special kit or box. Do the same with cosmetics used only for evening. It's not much fun to have to spend five minutes hunting for mascara because you can't remember where you put it after the last formal party.

Be Systematic Everywhere

Keep note paper and pencil in the bathroom cabinet just as you do in the kitchen. When you unwrap the last tube of toothpaste on hand, make a note to buy a new one that day, instead of waiting until you are completely out.

Set aside one evening a month for going over your wardrobe, replacing snaps and buttons, straightening sagging hemlines, adjusting seams, setting aside dresses to be cleaned and shoes that need new leather lifts. Keep your clothes on shoulder-shaped hangers—not on hooks. Keep sweaters folded neatly in a drawer. And do straighten contents of your dresser.

Rabbit Hunt More Than A Sport In State

Dollars By The Thousands Are Paid To The Trappers

By Don Doane

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 30—(AP)—Rabbit hunting is more than a sport in Missouri—it is a business which nets hunters and trappers scores of thousands of dollars each year.

No one knows how many rabbits are in the state, but some University of Missouri zoologists made a survey a few years ago and came up with the estimate of "about 20,000,000."

The Missouri cooperative wildlife research unit indicated that estimate was at least conservative when it made a rabbit "census" in three central Missouri counties last year and reported there were 2,770,000 in those three counties alone.

How many rabbits are shot and trapped each year also is highly conjectural, but the same zoologists who estimated the rabbit population also placed the annual rabbit carnage at above 4,500,000.

Those zoologists could be a million or so off either way and still leave an enormous slaughter of the chubby little cottontails that infest nearly every Missouri thicket or woodlot.

Only a beginning has been made at translating the extent of the rabbit trapping and hunting industry into dollars and cents, but a wildlife research unit survey showed 165,000 live rabbits shipped out of the state last year by nine dealers alone. Most of them were sent to build up the rabbit population of other states.

More than 900 trappers collected about $26,000 for gathering rabbits for those nine dealers at prices ranging from 13 to 25 cents per rabbit. The average income for each trapper was about $29.

However, those figures don't even touch the profits of the dealers themselves or of the hundreds of hunters who kill rabbits commercially for meat and pelts.

Chief Clearing Centers

Springfield is the largest clearing center for dead rabbits in Missouri, with Kansas City and St. Louis dealers also handling hundreds of thousands each year.

Then there is the incalculable carnage wrought by guns and dogs in hunting principally for sport.

It would seem such a death rate at the hands of man—coupled with the toll taken by rabbits' natural enemies—would cut serious inroads into the rabbit population.

Surveys support that theory by showing a sharp decline during the fall and winter months when hunters are most active. In the three counties censused last year that decline was estimated at 604,000 from November to March.

But Dr. Rudolf Bennitt, assistant professor of zoology at the University of Missouri—who made that 20,000,000 population estimate in 1934—says:

"There is no indication that Missouri's rabbit population is declining—it may even be increasing."

A recent study by the wildlife research unit indicates a logical explanation of that; the high rabbit birth rate.

That study showed the average female rabbit produces at least 16 young rabbits per year, all during the spring and summer months which make up the rabbit mating season. Each female produces from two to six litters a year, with an average of more than four rabbits in each litter.

With that kind of birth rate, conservation commission experts feel confident Missouri's rabbits can successfully combat all their natural enemies—and hunters, too—without and danger of extinction.

16,000 Miles On Horseback

Gaucho Marcelino Soule, an eight-goal polo player from the Argentine, will probably want to stand up for a year after he gets off his mount, Argentina. On July 27, 1938 he started a 16,000-mile ride from his home to present his horse to the President in Washington. Now in Texas, where he's pictured above, he hopes to be in the capital by March, 1941.

Losses During The Week On Stocks

NEW YORK, Nov. 30—(AP)—While the stock market ended the month and the week with sizable net losses, buying of steels and selected industrials in today's brief session gave the list a modtrate recovery tinge.

Prices edged forward at the start, then faltered and came back in the final half hour. Gains of fractions to a point or so were retained by favorites at the close. At that minus signs were plentiful and a wide assortment of issues held at Friday's final quotations.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks tacked on an advance of .2 of a point at 44 but on the week was off .4. The decline for November amounted to 1.8 points.

Transfers of 335,580 shares compared with 241,060 last Saturday. A fat portion of today's turnover was accounted for bly Commonwealth & Southern which appeared in blocks of 6,000 to 20,000 shares and finished unchanged at ⅞. The month's activity was the best since May.

The day's improvement was attributed partly to the idea of some analysis the market was "oversold." Other bullish items included word that steel mill operations in the Pittsburgh district next week would hit a new high and that last week's department store sales continued their year-to-year expansion.

Tax worries, as a market factor, were assuaged somewhat by announcement from Washington that no new imposts would be levied retroactive on 1940 income of either individuals or corporations. It was still realized, however, that big tax boosts for 1941 were likely. Selling for year-end income tax adjustments again was in evidence.

Among the better performing shares were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Montgomery Ward, Douglas Aircraft, American Telephone, Anaconda, Westinghouse, Du Pont, Dow Chemical, International Paper Preferred, N. Y. Shipbuilding and Loew's.

Most oils, rails, utilities and aircrafts were narrow.

Bonds and commodities were uneven.

Wheat In Moderate Advance Saturday

CHICAGO, Nov. 30—(AP)— The wheat market derived enough strength today from action of securities and absence of any prospective deliveries on December contracts Monday to close ⅜ to ⅞ cent higher than yesterday.

Although some purchasing was credited to mills, with Winnipeg reports also indicated Canadian and U. S. Mill buying there, most of the orders apparently came from pit dealers and other professional traders. No notices of intentions to deliver wheat Monday were posted, but 1,027,000 bushels of rye and 180,000 bushels of soybeans will be tendered along with 8,900,000 pounds of lard.

December wheat closed at 89⅝ to 89½ with May at 87¼ to 87⅜. Corn finished ⅞ lower to ⅛ higher, December 62½ to 62⅝, May 61⅞; oats ¼ off to ⅛ up; soybeans unchanged to ⅞ higher; rye unchanged to ⅛ off and lard unchanged to 13 lower.

Early easiness in wheat was associated with very favorable crop reports from the southwest. Evidence of a slowing up of the amount of grain going into government loan also attracted attention although the total of 260,203,020 bushels is almost 100,000,000 greater than the amount sealed last season and loan operations will continue for another month. The 3,143,384 bushels pledged the past week was the smallest since the program got under way. Earlier in December loaning average more than 1,000,000 bushels daily.

Stars In New Musical

Surpassing her "Alexander's Ragtime Band," success, lovely Alice Faye comes to The Fox Theatre Tuesday in "Tin Pan Alley," musical of our exciting times. Alice is starred with Betty Grable in the new hit which has for its background the colorful romantic street that makes America sing. Others in the cast include Jack Oakie, John Payne, Allen Jenkins, Esther Ralston, Nicholas Brothers and Ben Carter.

'Dispatch From Reuter's' and 'I Can't Give You Anything But Love Baby' are two features at the Uptown, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday

A picture as timely and exciting as the latest news bulletin will open at the Uptown Theatre today when Warner Brothers' "A Dispatch From Reuters" starring Edward G. Robinson, starts its local run. The screen has brought to the stories of many famous people but never before has it revealed the tale of a person so widely heard of, but so little known.

Robinson plays the part of Julius Reuter, whose speedy dispatches held within them the fate of empires and who did more to form the ethical credo of news gathering than any man in history. He first had the idea of finding some way to speed up the traveling of news when he was a child. Never forgetting his childhood ambition he and his friend played by Eddie Albert, open a news agency and use pigeons to carry the news between towns which have no telegraph. As years go on the Reuter's news agency becomes more and more associated with dramatic and far-reaching events despite attempts to place obstacles in his path.

Second feature is Johnny Downs and Peggy Moran in "I Can't Give You Anything But Love Baby."

All-Electrical 'Talking Home' Exhibit in 'Crescent Hill' Begins Sunday, December 8

Tom E. Ware, Developer Is Host; Many Sedalia Firms Co-operate

"Crescent Hill," Sedalia's newest restricted subdivision, will play host next Sunday to home-loving Sedalians, when Tom E. Ware opens the Sedalia all-electrical "talking home" for a five-day exhibition period. The result of a score of Sedalia building material, equipment, financing and furniture firms, the "talking home" is expected to be a drawing card, as it has been in other American cities in recent months.

Tom E. Ware, developer and builder of beautiful Crescent Hill, in offering this unique housing feature to the Sedalia public, has chosen a six-room brick veneer, of Modern American design, with a full basement and attached garage. This beautiful new home just completed is located at 912 Crescent boulevard, in "Crescent Hill," and is a truly "modern home" in every respect. There is a spacious living room, with an attractive tiled fireplace, full size dining room, two large bedrooms down stairs and one bedroom up-stairs, all having plenty of closet space, one and one-half baths, all tiled, and a large kitchen, with a breakfast nook, and of course this modern kitchen has a double sink of the latest type, tiled drain board, tiled wainscoting and the floor is covered with Armstrong's inlaid linoleum.

Furnished by McLaughlin Bros.

Completely furnished throughout by McLaughlin Bros. Furniture company, the "talking home" presents a novel, educational and entertaining model-home for the benefit of home-loving Sedalia residents. Comfortably heated, this home is expected to be a mecca for hundreds of visitors during the five-day display period.

All the skill of the experts of "McLaughlin's" will be concentrated in draping, furnishing and carpenting the "house that talks and answers questions."

Sedalia's latest housing demonstration will start its initial "conversations" next Sunday on the right and wrong of building, the proper use of good building materials, easy steps in home financing, correct manner in which to furnish and finish a modern home, and the ultra-modern demonstrations of electrical conveniences in performing the important tasks of cooking, refrigeration, heating and hot water heating.

Automatic Heating

The "talking home" is equipped with the newest type of Premier coal fired furnace, and a Butler Automatic stoker, furnished and installed by the Central Coal & Heating company, exclusive Premier Furnace dealer in Sedalia. This well-known Sedalia firm also furnished and installed all termite-shields. Its steel reinforcements were furnished by the Sonken-Galamba Corp., of Kansas City and the Ornamental Iron work were made and installed by the Keens Forging company of Sedalia.

One of the most attractive features to be noted is the latest type Venetian blinds, also the pleasing linoleum effects, both furnished and installed by McLaughlin's. The "talking home" choose Kohler plumbing fixtures and they were furnished and installed by the Independent Plumbing company, which represents the Kohler company in Sedalia.

All the brick used in the construction of the display home are "United Brick" and were laid by the Cramer Brick & Roofing company. The beautiful fireproof composition roof that graces the "talking home" is a Flintkote roof, and blends perfectly with the outside color scheme.

The attached garage is finished with fire-proof insulated board and sports a genuine "Overhead" garage door, which features the "miracle wedge" and is so perfectly balanced that a small child can raise or lower the door with ease. The dream home is finished inside and out with Pratt & Lambert's paints and varnishes, and were furnished by the George Dugan Paint and Wallpaper company. This well-known Sedalia store also supplied all wallpaper for the "talking home" and the visitors will note clever patterns and harmonizing colors in all the wallpaper selections.

The Wollet Electric company selected and furnished the beautiful lighting fixtures and the wiring and installation of the lighting fixtures were done by the James Electric company. Two of the outstanding features of the show house is the adequate wiring and perfect light conditioning which means modern comfort to the purchaser of the "talking home."

All-Electric Kitchen

The "talking home" boasts an all-electric kitchen, with a 1941 De Luxe Frigidaire refrigerator, Frigidaire electric range and a Frigidaire electric water heater, sponsored by McLaughlin Bros., Sedalia's exclusive Frigidaire dealer.

The Landmann Abstract & Title company furnished the "Abstracts of Title," and the "talking home" is fully protected against fire and tornado losses by insurance furnished by the T. H. Yount General Insurance Agency.

The "talking home" was built under FHA supervision and more than meets the rigid requirements of the Federal Housing Administration. The Third National bank, of Sedalia, assisted in the financing of this beautiful home, which may be bought with a small down payment, and convenient monthly terms under the FHA plan of financing, which includes principal, interest, taxes and insurance.

Talking "Chevrolet"

The "talking home" choose a new 1941 Chevrolet, which will be furnished by the Thompson Chevrolet company and this beautiful, popular car will play hostess and welcome all visitors to the model home.

The beautiful landscaping was done by the Archias' Floral company, and the genuine "Overhead" garage door was furnished and installed by John D. Staley, who represents the Overhead Door company in this city.

Beautiful Color Ensembles

Unusual decorative schemes have been used for each room, and the "talking home" guests will be pleased with the different color ensembles.

The attractive tiling which will be noted was laid by Gilbert Bultman, and all the floors in this attractive home are red oak floors, beautifully sanded and finished. All windows and doors are completely weatherstripped by the Superior Weatherstrip company and the home is fully insulated with rock wool, which means a substantial saving in the heating cost.

All the beautifully matched hardware, as well as the cabinet hardware was furnished by the Hoffman Hardware company, and is of the highest quality.

The "talking home" is an exclusive Democrat-Capital feature and with Tom E. Ware, extends an invitation to the public to visit this unique model home demonstration next Sunday, December 8.

Except for the grim air raid shelter sign, this scene on the steps of the Molyneux London establishment where an Italian street musician happened to stroll by, might well have been snapped in peacetime. But despite the fact that London shuddered under the war's most furious raids, Capt. Molyneux's staff carried on. The model above is wearing a travel coat featured in his current collection. It's of coral-red cheviot, lined with Chinese cat. Under it is worn a brown and beige plaid skirt, topped by a dark brown wool jersey blouse.

troyers involved were reported "repeatedly hit" by British guns.

The Javelin, a 1,695-ton of the 1939 destroyer class, was the flagship of Lord Louis Mountebatten, third flotilla commander and cousin of King George. He was unhurt, although there were some casualties on the Javelin.

Other developments on the London front included:

Announcement in Sunday's papers that November air casualties, number undisclosed, were fewer than those of October when 6,334 were killed.

Attack Southampton

BERLIN, Nov. 30—(AP)— The official DNB news agency reported the German air force made another heavy attack tonight on Southampton, England's big southwestern port.

The raiders attacked in waves and dropped bombs "of all calibers," the news agency said. It added that the first returning pilots told of eight great fires started almost at the outset of the attack.

The flames lighted the way for new waves of attackers, which continued across the channel through the night, DNB asserted.

(The British said the Germans were driven back from southwest town — presumably Southampton —"Time after Time" by a heavy anti-aircraft barrages.

Delay To Reach Men Trapped

CADIZ, O., Nov. 30.—(AP)—A new hazard, constant roof cave-ins, tonight further hampered weary mine crews trying to break a path to 31 or 32 trapped coal miners already given up for dead.

One body was taken this morning from the Ohio and Pennsylvania coal company's Nelms mine, rocked Friday by an explosion, but there were indications the remainder would not be reached before Monday night or Tuesday. Until then the exact death toll will not be known.

Company officials outwardly maintained the mine tradition that there always is hope, but relatives and mine inspectors agreed with John Owens, Ohio district United Mine Workers' union president, that "there's no question but that all are dead."

Besides the roof cave-ins, deadly gas permitted the men to work in the deep pits only for brief periods.

Owens blamed the explosion on gas, declared it would not have happened had there been an adeaquate air supply and charged tht "this catastrophe could have been prevented if we had adequate inspection and regulation of mines."

Company officials declined comment on Owens' statements.

Support To Chiang

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30—(AP)—The United States pointedly made clear its attitude toward the Tokyo-Nanking "peace" treaty today by reaffirming its recognition of Chiang Kai-Shek's anti-Japanese government and announcing a $100,000,000 credit to it.

With the ink hardly dry on the pact signed at Nanking by Japanese ambassador General Nobuyuki Abe and Wang Ching Wei, recognized by the Japanese as president of a national government of China, there were these developments here:

First, Secretary of State Hull said at his press conference that of course the United States continued to recognize Chiang Kai-Shek's Chungking administration as the government of China.

Secondly, President Roosevelt announced that two $50,000,000 credits to Chungking were "contemplated." One, to be made by the Export-Import bank and to be repaid in shipments of strategic materials, will be for the Chiang Kai-Shek's administration's "general purposes" such as keeping its army of 2,500,000 in the field.

Thakhek and Savannakhet, towns on the border of French Indo-China, were attacked by the Thai air force, advices said, after an alleged French bombing of Thailand.

It is a good conservation measure because when he sees two or three deer at a time he can shoot at only one and takes no chance of wounding the others.

Chiappe Dies In Plane Crash

VICHY, Nov. 30—(AP)—Plump little Jean Chiappe, the "Napoleon" of the Paris police who was ousted in the Stavisky scandal riots, died Nov. 27 in the crash of a French airliner which the French government attributed today to machine-gunning by a British fighter plane.

The government said in an official statement that Chiappe and five companions on a flight from France to French-mandated Syria were lost when the plane crashed following the attack off Sardinia during an Italian-British naval engagement.

A governmental spokesman said the accusation against the British plane was based mainly on an Italian investigation.

The statement said the plane had radioed: "We are being machine-gunned, plane on fire, SOS."

(In London, British sources said the government had received no official communication on the affair, which admittedly "could be delicate.")

Chiappe achieved a wide reputation for handling riots in Europe's most temperamental capital during his seven years as prefect of police.

But his lack of zeal in curbing outbreaks following the collapse of the $40,000,000 Bayonne Pawnshop of Serge Stavisky, his friend, in 1934, brought Chiappe's ouster. The scandal caused the fall of Premier Camille Chautemps, and his successor, Edouard Daladier, promptly removed Chiappe.

Kissinger-Simmons To Fight Monday Night

The once postponed Pat Kissinger-Jackie Simmons Missouri lightweight title fight is definitely set for Monday night in the municipal auditorium. The rivals will scale at 136-pounds and clash over the 12-round distance, with the winner assured of official Missouri title recognition when the state solons meet December 7 at Joplin.

Kissinger, more serious than ever before in his career, predicts a knockout over his Negro foe. A meeting against Jimmy Garrison here in January is ahead for the Irishman should he defeat Simmons. The latter has every confidence he will be the winner. Jackie points to his recent record of nine straight victories and insists Kissinger will be the tenth.

"I'll knock Pat out," Simmons declares. "I know how to fight him and I will sure beat him."

An attractive supporting card will precede the title encounter. Buzz Lanning, who floored Simmons in their recent auditorium battle, meets "Red" Lewis, St. Louis, 138-pounder, in a 6 rounder and Stanley Novak, Omaha, featherweight, is paired against Russ Winkler, St. Louis stablemate of Lewis. A pair of 4 rounders, bring together Joe Kempinger, Kansas City heavyweight and Tony Gartner, St. Louis, and Roy Logan vs. Lloyd Weems, Kansas City bantamweight rivals. The first bout gets under way at 8:30 o'clock.

The wedding will take place at Sacred Heart church, December 25, 1940.

Miss Monica Growney, of Kansas City, and Charles Richard Cashman, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Cashman of Houstonia, were married October 14, at St. Francis Zavier church, Kansas City, according to announcement made last week.

"Dick," as he is known to his friends left the latter part of October for Lock Haven, Pa., where he has employment. Mrs. Cashman left Kansas City Saturday, November 23 to join her husband.

Mrs. David Carter will be the social chairman at the Sedalia Country club for the months of December and January, and will be assisted by Mrs. Stanley Breitweiser, Mrs. J. C. Campbell, Miss Mabel DeWitt, Mrs. H. C. Feuers, Mrs. Ernest Gillespie, Mrs. W. F. Keyser, Mrs. John McMullan, Mrs. Sam Ross, Mrs. Victor Scott, Miss Vivian Valkenburg, Mrs. Frank Warren and Mrs. Chester Wright.

The final party planned by the retiring social committee, headed by Mrs. E. M. Stafford, Jr., was a luncheon bridge Friday afternoon at the clubhouse.

The luncheon tables were decorated with rosebuds floating in glass bowls. There were eight tables of players for the bridge game. An out-of-town guest was Mrs. John Atkinson of Fulton.

Awards for honors were received by Mrs. J. H. McQuiddy, first; Mrs. Frank Morley, second; Mrs. Victor Scott, third and Mrs. John McMullan, fourth. The consolation favor was presented to Miss Kathryn Courtney.

The new entertainment committee will meet soon to make arrangements for holiday events.

Miss Ruth Colvin and Miss Naomi Maddox were hostesses at a linen shower for Miss Roberta Leazer, a bride-to-be, given on Thursday night at the home of Miss Colvin's aunt, Mrs. George Suter, 1842 South Barrett avenue.

After the guests had assembled the honoree was presented with a recipe file box and on the backs of the recipe cards were directions, written in verse, telling the locations of the linen gifts, hidden about the house. Games appropriate to the occasion were played as the evening's diversion.

The refreshments table was attractively arranged with tiny crepe paper and marshmallow doll "brides" used as favors, forming a crisscross design from a centerpiece of white carnations and pink rosebuds, framed by the white tapers in crystal holders. The refreshments, carrying out the pink and white motif were ice cream slices with red hearts in the center and individual cakes.

Bouquets of chrysanthemums and cut flowers completed the decorations in the home.

The hostesses were assisted in entertaining by Mrs. Suter, Miss Dorothy Suter and Miss Mabel Colvin.

Guests were Miss Leazer, Miss Erma Lowery, Miss Marian Laudenberger, Miss Myrtle Lewis, the Misses Mary and Ann Fltecher, Miss Ruth Schenck, Mrs. Fred Arbogast, Mrs. Dan M. Carr, Mrs. Morris Thomas, Mrs. Dora Herndon, Mrs. Ralph Bryant and Mrs. R. W. Leazer, the prospective bride's mother.

Pins Presented At Recognition 4-H Club Event

Projects By The Sunnyside Groups Fully Completed

The Sunnyside 4-H club members were each presented pins at the County Recognition program at the court house, Saturday.

While the Sunnyside community has had a 4-H club but two years, each year, the projects have been completed 100 percent.

Last year this club had only a poultry project, but the type of work done by it was excellent—as Walter and Elizabeth McClure won in the state judging contest and with two members from Dresden constituted Missouri's 4-H judging team at the World's Poultry Congress at Cleveland and Dorothy Helen White was the 4-H public speaking contestant and won second at Columbia in the state contest.

The past year, there were three clubs—a sheep club led by John Thomas White. "Billy Bob," "Jimmy" and Phillip White, and Walter McClure were the members. The White boys did a splendid job in raising their lambs and topped the market at 10c in Sedalia with lambs born March 1 and sold June 1. These lambs weighed 96 pounds. Because of "Billy Bob's" good work with his ewe and lamb, and because of his interest in club work, he was selected as one of the Pettis county 4-H members to attend the American Royal.

Two Clubs of Girls

The girls had two clubs, a Breakfast and Home Furnishings. Mrs. W. P. Tucker and Mrs. Rodenbach led the Breakfast club and Mrs. William White the home Furnishings club. Reta Slatinsky, Dorothy Helen White, Betty Jo Thorp, Jayne Crockett and Elizabeth McClure were the members. A demonstration on correct dish washing, given by Dorothy Helen White and Elizabeth McClure was a blue ribbon winner at the County Achievement program.

In home furnishings judging contest, Dorothy Helen White was a blue ribbon winner and Reta Slatinsky a red ribbon winner. Dorothy also won a blue ribbon at Columbia.

In the grooming contest in Pettis county, the following won blue ribbons. Jayne Crockett, Betty Jo Thorp, and Walter McClure. Walter was the representative in the contest at Columbia, where he won a blue ribbon.

Dorothy Helen and Elizabeth won 2nd and 3rd place, "Billy Bob" White 2nd in the county grooming contest.

Jayne Crockett was a blue ribbon winner in the health contest.

Besides the reular meetings, a wiener roast was held at the Slatinsky home for the club and parents, and a mulligan stew was given at the Rodenbach home for the club members and parents.

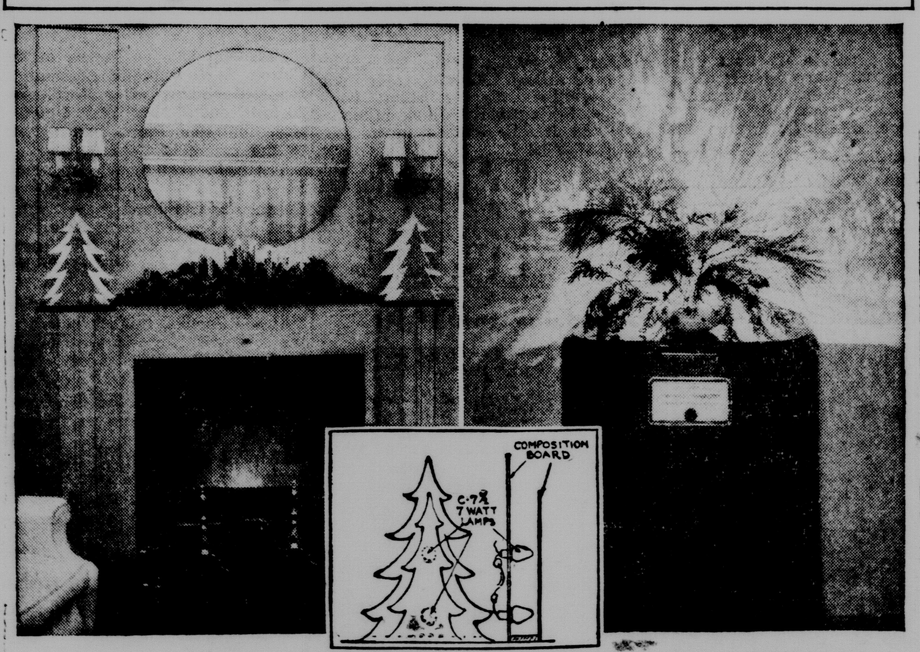
The achievement program was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William White—the members of the Sunnyside Home Economics club and Mrs. White served delightful refreshments to about 50 guests.

The club feels very grateful to the Women's club for paying the expenses of the demonstration team and grooming contestant to Columbia—also for donating $1 toward the purchasing of the 4-H pins.

Dorothy White again represented the county in the state 4-H public speaking contest and won 2nd.

Because of the interest manifested by the community and parents in this fine work, the members of the club, pledge their hearts to greater loyalty.

Yule Lighting Effects Indoors Can Be Novel



No End of Unique Effects Can Be Created to Give Indoor Christmas Lighting Individuality. All It Takes Is a Little Dreaming and Originality. Above Are Two Suggestions. Each Is More Fully Described Below.

By Jean Prentice

Many folks wrote me last year for recipes on how to create new and "different" Christmas lighting decorations for the living room. Apparently these enterprising women have tired of the conventional tree and the wreath encircling a red bulb at the window.

This year, fortunately, numerous novelties using lights are on the market. But if a shopping tour doesn't quite "ring the bell" for the decorations you have in mind, perhaps the two effects shown above will do. At least, they may give birth to a better idea of your own.

A simple yet effective treatment for the mantel may be made by surrounding the base of a standard candolier with holly or pine. In this instance, instead of ordinary Christmas tree lights, candle-like amber-tinted lamps, referred to as "T-3¼" by dealers, were used. The miniature trees at each end of the mantel consist of two planes cut from heavy white cardboard. The silhouette effect is obtained by burning colored C-7½ lamps in the manner as shown in the above sketch.

The explosive lighting effect shown in the other display back of the radio was achieved like this. The bowl of pine branches was made to "spill" backward toward the wall. Bright light from clear-glass T-3¼ Christmas lamps, either bunched in the bowl or concealed from view behind the bowl, created the lovely shadow patterns pictured. The shadows may be tinted by adding one or more larger lamps of contrasting color.

Try one or both of these decorative stunts and I'm sure the returns in enjoyment will repay your efforts many times over.

Nebraska Defeats Kansas Aggies

Cornhuskers Are Undisputed Big Six Champions

One-Sidedness Shown By Nebraska's First Downs And Yardage

FINAL BIG SIX STANDINGS

COLLEGE	W	L	T	Pts.	Op.
Nebraska	5	0	0	127	21
Oklahoma	4	1	0	54	20
Missouri	3	2	0	106	74
Iowa State	2	3	0	52	71
Kansas State	1	4	0	33	70
Kansas	0	5	0	22	138

By RANDALL BLAKE

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 30—(AP)—Nebraska's Cornhuskers literally "reversed" themselves into the Big Six football championship and a probable New Year's Day bowl bid as they walloped Kansas State, 20 to 0, today before an estimated 20,000 whooping fans.

The Huskers shot reverse after reverse, both from a single and double wing formation, as they befuddled the Aggies and won almost as they pleased.

The scoring started with eight seconds left in the first half, when Herman Rohrig drifted back with his arm raised as if to pass and the Aggies, who had been knocking down the tosses consistently, spread with the receivers.

Stocky little Rohrig didn't see an open receiver, so he cut for the sidelines, outrunning three tacklers and picking up a field of blockers as he turned to start down the field. The touchdown run of 14 yards was simple, the little fellow not being touched as the Aggies, caught when Rohrig reversed his field, tried desperately to get at him.

Then in the third period the Aggies found themselves caught off balance time after time as Walter Luther zipped around the ends and inside tackle on reverse after reverse, two for touchdowns. His first touchdown gallop was on a 35-yard sprint on a delayed reverse from the same formation. Vike Francis kicked the extra point after the first touchdown and missed after the second. Rohrig made it good after the third touchdown.

All in all Luther carried the ball on 19 reverses for 161 yards. His average gain per play was 8.47 yards and he was dumped for a loss just once.

The one-sidedness of the game is best shown by the 23 first downs Nebraska made and the 341 yards net the Huskers got from scrimmage compared to the three first downs and 11 yards net the Aggies had.

Kansas State made only one scoring threat, and that was an attempt to kick a field goal from the Husker 40 with a brisk wind behind Guard Bill Nichols, who did the kicking. The attempt was wide.

The game was the last for eight of Nebraska's first string lineup—End Ray Prochaska, Tackles Forrest Behm and Royal Kahler, Guard Warren Alfson, Center Bob Burrus and Backs Roy Petsch, Harry Hopp and Luther. From the second lineup the Huskers bid goodby, at least on the home field, to Back Herman Rohrig and Tackle Leonard Muskin.

For Kansas State Center Kenneth Hamlin played the best on the line while Backs Bill Quick and Kent Duwe carried the offensive load.

The lineups and summary:

NEBRASKA	POS.	KANSAS STATE
Preston	LE	Swanson
Muskin	LT	Raemer
Schwartzkopf	LG	Nichols
Burruss	C	Hamlin
Alfson	RG	Huff
Behm	RT	Weiner

Score by periods:

Kansas State	0	0	0	0	0
Nebraska	0	7	13	0	20

Nebraska scoring: Touchdowns, Rohrig, (sub for Hopp), Luther 2.

Point from try after touchdown: Francis (place-kick); Rohrig (place-kick.)

Officials: Referee, Dwight Ream, Washburn; umpire, John Waldorf, Missouri; linesman, Bob Miller, Kansas City; field judge, John Lance, Kansas State Teachers.

Cornhuskers Willing If A Bid Is Received

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 30—(AP)—It was a battered bunch of Nebraska football players that voted in the dressing room late today in favor of a New Year's football game—if the school gets a bid.

Head Coach Lawrence M. Jones looked on, but his only comment to the squad was:

"Remember your studies, boys."

On the Huskers' injured list was Harry Hopp, backfield man and leader of the Husker power attack, who went out of today's Kansas Aggie game with an injured shoulder after three Aggies had crushed him to the ground. Also injured were End Fred Preston, ankle; Guard Eddie Schwartzkopf, broken nose, and Tackle Clarence Herndon, two teeth missing.

Springfield Beats Hastings, 51-6

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Nov. 30—(AP)—The unbeaten, untied Springfield Teachers College Bears pulled all the stops today and dealt Hastings, Neb., co-champion of the NCAC, a 51 to 6 walloping here in their windup game.

Springfield scored almost every conceivable way, but the biggest thrill of all came when Wee Dwight Bumpus returned the second half kickoff 91 yards. Bumpus didn't reach the goal line, but two plays later Bob Grider scored standing up.

Grider scored two touchdowns; big Russ Kaminsky scored a pair on end-around jaunts; Bumpus tallied on a lateral and passed 25 yards to End Ed Lechner for another. Guard Dutch Eagleburger, formerly a back, scored on a 10-yard off-tackle sprint and Tackle Earl Graves tallied on a one-yard plunge.

Hastings scored in the second quarter on a nine-yard pass, Little to Richendifer. A 23-yard pass completion by the same combination set it up.

Tennessee Vs. Boston College In Sugar Bowl

Perfect Records Are Held By Both Teams Unbeaten And Untied

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 30—(AP)—University of Tennessee and Boston College were selected today to play in the New Year's Sugar Bowl football game here. Both have accepted.

The much-awaited announcement was made by the New Orleans Mid-Winter Sports Association, sponsors of the Sugar Bowl program, 30 minutes after Tennessee had beaten its ancient rival, Vanderbilt, 20 to 0, and Boston College had vanquished Holy Cross, 7 to 0.

The decision left Nebraska, another strong team which some thought would get the Sugar Bowl bid, a potential selection for the Rose Bowl.

Both participants in this intersectional battle for the 1941 Sugar Bowl title are unbeaten and untied. It will be the first time two teams with perfect records have been signed for the Sugar Bowl and the first time a New England club has been asked to the New Orleans game.

Tennessee Accepts

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Nov. 30—(AP)—Major Bob Neyland announced tonight he would take his Tennessee Volunteers to New Orleans to meet Boston College in the Sugar Bowl game New Year's Day.

The Tennessee football coach, after a brief meeting with his players following their 20 to 0 victory over Vanderbilt, told newsmen that most of his players had been to the Rose Bowl at Pasadena, Calif., and the Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla., and they wanted to go down to New Orleans.

Trapping Season Opens Today

JEFFERSON CITY, Nov. 30—(AP)—The season for hunting and trapping fur-bearing animals will open Dec. 1 in Missouri. With either different species—including raccoon and fox—declared legal prey by the conservation commission.

Raccoon and fox, however, may be taken only for one month in an abbreviated season ending Dec 31. Other furbearers—such as opossum, muskrat, skunk, civet cat, weasel and mink—may be captured from Dec. 1 to Jan. 7.

The season limit on raccoons is 10, with hunters required to fill out record blanks on each 'coon caught and each pelt sold. In addition, each pelt must bear a conservation commission tag until it is processed.

The commission hopes that system not only will provide valuable information on the extent of raccoon hunting, but also will help curtail violations of the season limit.

A state hunting and trapping permit costs $2.

Christman Captain On McBride Big Six Team

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 30—(AP)—The Big Six conference all-star football team, selected by C. E. McBride, The Star's sports editor, included five players on the Nebraska squad, 1940 champion.

Paul Christman, Missouri, was named honorary captain. The team:

Ends—Bill Jennings, Oklahoma, and Raymond Prochaska, Nebraska.

Tackles—Roger Eason, Oklahoma, and Forrest Behm, Nebraska.

Guards—Warren Alfson, Nebraska, and Harold Lahar, Oklahoma.

Center—Darold Jenkins, Missouri.

Quarterback— Paul Christman, Missouri.

Halfbacks—Roy Petsch, Nebraska, and Walter Luther, Nebraska.

Fullback—Johnny Martin, Oklahoma.

St. Joseph Baseball Franchise To Be Sold

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Nov. 30—(AP)—A local corporation tonight completed negotiations for purchase of the St. Joseph Western association baseball franchise.

Earl Hamilton, former major league pitcher, brought the franchise here two years ago from Ponca City, Okla. Hamilton will take over the Stockton club in the new California State league.

The corporation is headed by Hal J. Thames, sponsor of the state championship girl softball team.

Russell Murphy Ex-Chairman Mo. Athletic Commission Hurt

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 30.—(AP)—Russell W. Murphy, 40, former chairman of the Missouri Athletic commission, was injured seriously in an automobile collision here today.

He suffered a skull injury and contusions and shoulder abrasions.

Central Missouri Conference's All-Star football team has been picked and Smith-Cotton is represented by three Tigers on the first team and three on the second. However to my best judgement, I do not feel the team was justified, inasmuch as the team was chosen more-or-less through a faint remembrance by each coach as to what happened during various games. Otherwise I do not say these boys mentioned are not qualified for the position of honor, but I do say there are many who I believe are just as good and just as deserving.

An example of this is Cecil Landers, guard, who I believe deserved to be on the first team more than any other Sedalian. To those who followed the team closely, they could see Landers in action all the time. There wasn't a let-down in him through the season in any game. Charles Weller is another, he likewise played hard, and seldom was pulled because of inefficiency. Weller deserved a lot of votes too.

There were one or two boys on the Columbia team who also deserve credit, and the Jefferson City aggregation as well.

But just the same we are glad Smith-Cotton is represented in the strength it is—three on the first team and three on the second.

My idea of picking an all-conference team is the system used in the good old days of the Big Seven conference, when at the close of the grid season, the team coaches, with the principals and newspaper representatives gathered around a banquet table in Higginsville and discussed the team pro and con. The coaches had chances to tell of the good points of boys, recall to the coaches, plays made by his players, and the net results were the true all-conference team was named.

I suggest the officials of the Central Missouri conference try this plan in 1941 and see if it isn't more of an enjoyable pick. Then no coach has a grumble over the team, nor can individual "gripe" about the pick of the honorary team.

Coach Joe Benson is well-pleased with the pick, but like myself would like to have seen Landers and Weller's names mentioned on the first squad. One thing certain, the boys did play hard, and those honored do not need to feel that they didn't earn these honors.

It is certain the game at Columbia assured Gardner of his position at center, because he played hard and he played well in that game. Several of the coaches, I am told, saw this game.

Herman Logan has played good in every conference game. Several spectacular pass receptions brought him to the attention of the coaches, as well as many of his line plays.

Leland Thomas, half back. There isn't any doubt he was the best passer in the conference. Thomas to me was a second Paul Christman in the raw in the passing department.

Well it's chosen and it's over and we are, as I said before, proud of those who made 'er.

Nebraska is sure to get a bid to a Bowl and from the outlook it will be the west coast in the Rose Bowl, New Year's Day. It is a dream the Cornhuskers have had all season and with the choice of Fordham to the Cotton Bowl, those in authority say Nebraska is almost a cinch to represent the east and middlewest in Passadena, Calif.

Of course everyone expected Nebraska to beat the Kansas Aggies by a fairly large score—the parley handicap proved this. But this victory gave them a clean slate in the Big Six conference and their only loss was to the great Minnesota team of the Big Ten. Incidentally it isn't any dishonor to be beaten by that team.

I had a nice talk with Eugene Clark, a former Nebraska back of a few years back over long distance the other night, and he is most anxious to see Nebraksa get into any bowl. However Clark sees it that the team from up north is entitled to the honors by virtue of their 1940 standing in comparison with Oklahoma when they went Orange Bowl, and with Missouri when they went Orange bowl playing.

Certainly Nebraska will be a drawing card for football fans from the middlewest and if it is cash customers wanted at Pasadena, then Nebraska isn't a bad bet to have as a guest team. In all their glory of being the high ranking team on the coast. Stanford can expect to get their noses shoved in the mud by these Huskers.

Smith-Cotton Tiger Co-Captains for 1940

At the close of the 1940 football season for the Smith-Cotton Tigers the members of the first squad held the annual election to bestow upon their choice the honors of co-captains of that year's team. Herman Logan at the left and Cecil Landers to the right get the best wishes of their coach, Joe Benson, as the two smile over their honors.

Logan played at right end while Landers played left tackle. The two served three times during the year as co-captains, and their handling of the team decisions on the gridiron were to the best advantage of their fellow players.

Both boys are members of the "L" club of the high school as well as being first team lettermen for two years.

Army Under 14-0 Naval Blitzkrieg

A Navy Victory Over Army Makes Up For Other Games Lost

By BILL BONI

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 30—(AP)—The Navy football team turned a better-than-fair season into something extra special today by beating the Army, 14 to 0, before a crowd that filled not quite all of the 102,000 seats in Municipal Stadium.

It was, finally, a victory over Army, and that is enough in itself. Now that the Middies have won this one, they can forget about those defeats by Penn and Notre Dame and that scoreless tie with Columbia.

In a rivalry that has been memorable for thrilling battles, this was not, however, a standout. On offense Navy had far too much power in its running attack and on defense the heavier Navy line held the Cadet ball carriers to a net total gain of 19 yards and the Navy ends and secondary combined for a pass defense that rushed the pitchers, covered the receivers on all but five out of 17 tries and intercepted three Army aerials.

Sophomore Star Bill Busik, a smooth yet powerful runner before an old side injury cropped up again to bench him, scored and pretty well engineered the first touchdown the first time Navy got possession of the ball.

Army, having received the kick off, ran only two plays from its 20 before Sophomore Hank Mazur punted. Busik came racing back from his 35 to the Cadet 42 and the navy was on its way.

Fullback Sherwood Werner belted into the line for two. Busik, in three tries, made a first down by inches. From there Navy scored in seven plays, Busik contributing 12 yards on a running pass to Malcolm and carrying the ball for the touchdown.

Navy made two more threats that period, and turned back three by Army in the second quarter. Early in the third the Middies marched from their 40 to the Cadet 19, but Army got the ball after an attempted placement failed. The next time the Navy took possession, the Middies made 53 yards in six plays.

This time it was Howie Clark, 140 pounder, who was the works in the drive. He carried on three of the five running plays, contributing the day's longest single rushing gain by cracking the Army right side and breaking into the clear for 28 yards and climaxed the march by throwing a 9-yard touchdown pass on the run to Malcolm.

For the rest of the game Army got no closer than the Navy 31 in the last three minutes, a threat which failed to materialize when a pass was intercepted by Harold Harwood, the Middie center.

Fordham U. Goes To Cotton Bowl

DALLAS, Nov. 30—(AP)—Powerful Fordham University, beaten once in a shocking upset earlier in the season, accepted an invitation tonight to play a New Year's Day football game in the Cotton Bowl against a Southwest conference representative still to be accepted.

President Dan D. Rogers of the Cotton Bowl Athletic Association reported shortly after Fordham's 26 to 0 rout of New York University, that the Rams had agreed to the game.

The southwest team will be selected by a telegraphic vote of the faculty members of the Southwest conference next Monday. Only Texas A. & M., Rice Institute and Southern Methodist are eligible.

It was believed fairly certain that the Aggies, mighty rulers of the southwest for two seasons and victims of a terrific upset from Texas University, 7 to 0, only two days ago, would be the choice.

Fordham has won seven and lost one this season—St. Mary's Galloping Gaels, traditional rival from the Pacific Coast, coming east to give them a 9 to 6 defeat on a field goal in the closing minutes of play.

Mississippi State Looks To The Orange Bowl

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Nov. 30—(AP)—Authoritative sources said here tonight Mississippi State football team had been invited to play in the Orange Bowl January 1, but was withholding acceptance pending the outcome of a feeler received from Stanford University in regard to possible participation in a Rose Bowl game at Pasadena.

Mississippi State players previously voted to accept any bowl bid decided upon by athletic authorities.

It was learned from the same sources that a final decision on bowl participation was unlikely before Monday.

Speculation as to the other team centered around a Pennsylvania team, Nebraska and Georgetown.

Chester Ellis To Meet Harry Jeffra Dec. 17

Announcement was made last night that Chester Ellis, Kansas City's colorful and undefeated Indian featherweight, will meet Harry Jeffra, world featherweight champion of Baltimore, in the Municipal auditorium in Kansas City, Tuesday, December 17. John Antonello, promoter for the K. of C., said arrangements for the bout had been completed with Max Waxman, New York manager of the champion, and Charley Myers, Municipal Boxing Club coach, who is director for Ellis. The fight represents a golden opportunity in the career of the ever fighting and popular "redskin." Just one year ago, Ellis won both the national and international championship. Now he is confident of proving the victor over the acknowledged world leader of all 126 pounders.

Advance ticket reservation for the Ellis-Jeffra fight may be made by addressing Promoter John Antonello at his offices in the Gloyd building, Kansas City, Missouri.

New Athletic Activity At Smith-Cotton

'Woody' Wyatt And Tom 'Dolly' Farris Are Instructors

A WPA recreational project is to be held at the Smith-Cotton high school this winter for students who are interested in boxing and wrestling, it was learned this week. The project will be in charge of Tom "Dolly" Farris of the Recreational Department of the WPA and "Woody" Wyatt, a member of the high school faculty.

More than sixteen boys who learned of the new program reported for workouts Friday evening and from reports received from others the class is expected to be increased to at least 35 boys. In telling of the program Farris said at least 35 boys could be taken care of, and if more registered, arrangements would be made to handle them.

Farris also said he would handle the wrestling while instructions in boxing would be handled by Wyatt. Wyatt, who comes to Sedalia, from the Central Missouri Teachers' college, is an instructor in chemistry and physics at Smith-Cotton.

Mr. Wyatt has had considerable boxing experience and was an amateur boxer for several years.

The present plan is to work up a team which will meet teams from other high schools who are now putting boxing and wrestling in their schools as an athletic activity.

Stanford Gets The Rose Bowl

CORVALLIS, Ore., Nov. 30—(AP)—Stanford University, undefeated and untied champion of the Pacific Coast conference, has been officially selected as the conference's Rose Bowl football representative, Prof. C. V. Ruzek, conference president, announced tonight.

The Oregon State College professor said the exact vote, which came a few hours after Stanford's 13 to 7 victory over its final conference hurdle, California, could not be made public. It was believed to be unanimous, however.

The selection of Stanford became a certainty after its victory over California. A California win, however, would have given Washington a tie with Stanford for the Coast title.

At Berkeley meanwhile, Alfred R. Masters, athletic director of Stanford, said he would take no steps toward selection of an eastern opponent until tomorrow.

Speculation on the eastern possibilities centered around the University of Nebraska, winner of its final contest and with but a loss to Minnesota in its record, and Texas A. & M., loser of a close one to Texas this week.

Boston College Get The Breaks

BOSTON, Nov. 30—(AP)—Lucky breaks came to the rescue of a top-heavy favorite Boston College team today and enabled it to maintain its undefeated record by nosing out a courageous Holy Cross eleven, 7 to 0.

Knocked back on their tailfeathers by the vastly improved Crusaders opening charge, the Eagles stumbled and stalled and never did get out of their own territory until the final period, when break No. 4, Sub End Don Currivan's recovery of Joe Osmanski's fumble, gave them the ball on Holy Cross' five-yard line.

Dolph Kissell, the Eagles' spare line-bucker, took two slams through the tired and discouraged Holy Cross forwards before scoring from the two-yard line, and Frank Maznicki converted the seventh point.

Faculty-Tiger Game Set For December 17

Former 'Hi' And College Stars To Give Tigers First Battle

The Smith-Cotton Tigers will be in their first cage battle of the season on December 17, when the team meets the faculty aggregation. It is the annual court battle of the year for the school team and usually turns out to be one of the best contests of the season.

Coach Jimmy Obermiller of the Tigers has started his boys in daily practice and from early reports this season's team appears to be shaping up in good form. Obermiller is saying little about the team at present and will probably hold back naming a first squad until after the faculty game or even after the annual Alumni-Tiger game expected to be played during Christmas week.

The Faculty team is composed of former high school and college basketball players. These young men have all been practicing on the high school court, preparing their plays and getting into condition for the battle. No mercy is ever shown the Tigers by the Faculty team and from the time the whistle blows until the final gun the two teams will furnish basket ball fans plenty of excitement.

"Tip" Masterson, a forward, is a native of Tennessee and played forward on the Tennesse university team the past three years. He was captain of the team last year.

Louis Alley, forward, spent his high school days under Coach Clarence Whiteman and later made a name for himself at the Teachers college in Warrensburg.

Albert Steiner, forward played on the Smith-Cotton team and later starred on the Teachers' College team at Warrensburg under Ted Reid. He was known as the left hand flash, and he did a great job with that left arm.

Elbert Shores, forward, known to give any guard a headache starred on the Cleveland high school and later went to Warrensburg.

Joe Benson, Smith-Cotton's foot ball coach, played against the Tigers when a member of William Chrisman high at Independence. He saw service against such Tiger stars as "H" Fischer, "Hap" Williams, S. Needy, A. Parks, Peabody, Connelly and others. He played with the Maryville Teachers.

Ernest Morrow, guard, played at the Plattsburg high school, later played football at Maryville and made a name for himself. He likewise played basketball there. Morrow and Benson were football team mates at Maryville.

Pete Peterson, "Sure Shot Pete" plays forward. Peterson played at Lees Summit and from there went to Central where he made a name for himself in "court" battles. Give him a set shot and two points loop in the basket.

Ken Husbands starred on the Central high school team in Kansas City. His college days were spent at the Kansas City university.

"Woody" Wyatt probably the only faculty member in shape to play, in his playing makes the other "youngsters look forty." He graduated from the State Teachers College at Warrensburg.

Obermiller names his team next week for the coming game.

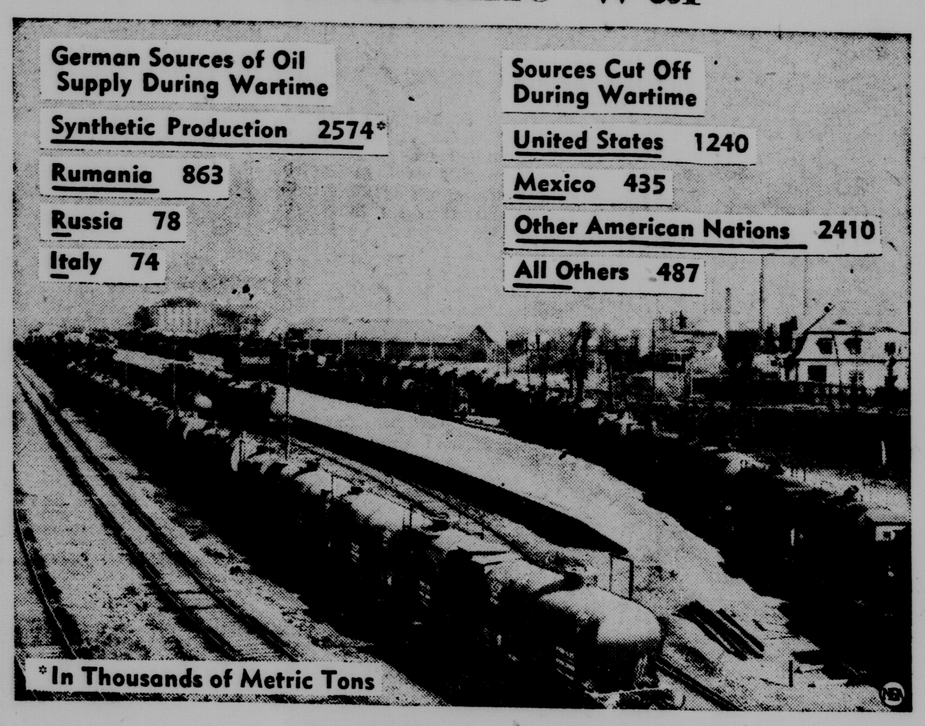
Germany Still Ranks Second Best In Economic War



By JOHN T. FLYNN
NEA Service Financial Writer

At the end of a year of war, Germany's economic resources, despite many favorable factors and her great victories, remain inadequate for carrying on a war as long as England can endure.

On the very evening of the war she enormously mitigated the serious nature of her economic condition by her pact with Russia.

That, she said, broke the British blockade.

How much is brought to her in supplies is still unknown. She did get some ore, grain and oil—all badly needed.

And the pact did completely alter the whole situation in the Balkans in favor of Germany.

But it is quite possible that the amount of supplies going from Russia to Germany has not been decisive.

There is friction now because of Germany's inability to deliver up to schedule to Russia the machinery with which the Nazis were to pay for Russia's ore and oil and grain.

Processors—Not Producers

The conquest of Belgium, Denmark, Norway and northern France has certainly brought Germany large new iron supplies.

But it has not augumented her food supplies in any important way.

These countries were great food stations for Europe—chiefly England. But they were processors rather than producers.

Holland, for instance, produced butter and cheese.

But she had to get the feed for her cattle from without. And Germany can no more get grain for Holland's cows than for her own people.

Norway imported about 60 per cent of her food. The rest was mainly fish.

Now even fish are scare because of the lack of gasoline for Norway's fishing boats.

In Denmark there has been an immense slaughter of cattle and chickens because they compete with human beings for food.

What Germany got in these countries and in Palond is a vast population which cannot feed itself and which faces starvation.

John Maloney, American Red Cross representative in eastern Europe, says 35,000,000 must go on a near-starvation ration this winter.

Disclaims Responsibility

Britain will not permit food to be sent to these people. Germany disclaims all responbility to feed them.

What will be the effect upon Germany's morale of these great masses grappling under her care with starvation and disease?

Germany herself, according to the British Agricultural Commission, has food enough—reserves and current crops—to last until the fall of 1941.

This, however, is predicated upon good crops this year.

And the crops are not good. All Europe will have a 1,360,000,000-bushel wheat crop compared with 1,700,000,000 last year.

We have no figures available on the other agricultural crops. All important economic data in Germany and Italy ceased to appear after August, 1939.

But reports filtering out of Germany are that lack of manpower has resulted in heavy reductions in the crops as a whole. There is no critical shortage of meat and only a moderate shortage of sugar.

Germany—save for one thing—seems to have enough to be able to pull through into the spring.

England Holds Economic Edge

The big question mark on the economic front is gasoline.

No one knows how much damage the R. A. F. has done to Germany's oil storage.

Rumors persist that her most important high-test air-engine gasoline synthetic plant has been destroyed.

Her armies have not been consuming material in the last several weeks, but her planes are now tapping her most troublous material—gas for her planes. That is a completely closed book so far as reliable information is concerned.

The economic situation may be stated thus: In an endurance race between England and Germany, England still can outlast her enemy.

Germany to defeat Britain must win a military victory—that is, a victory in the air or on the sea or on land, sufficient to destroy Britain's power to land the supplies she possesses.

Mrs. Riecke Is Hostess To Club

Mrs. Max Riecke was hostess to the Flat Creek Homemakers last Tuesday. Members and guests assembled at the home for a luncheon, which was served cafeteria style.

In the afternoon, Mrs. E. R. Wilhoit opened the meeting, leading in the recitation of the Lord's prayer, in unison. She then gave an interesting account of her visit to the American Royal, in Kansas City, which she attended as a delegate from this club.

Miss Josephine Flory, assistant home demonstration agent explained how to make several Christmas gifts.

The committee on the Christmas program reported they would have two grab bags, one containing articles for adults and one for children, at the home of Mrs. E. W. Hoard, on December 27.

THE "magic skin" doll which the little curly-headed model is pinching is big news in toy departments this Christmas. The doll has a hard, unbreakable plastic head and a soft, flexible, plastic body which looks and feels like real skin. Even her toes and fingers are flexible. Although 20 inches high, she weighs only one pound.

Kitchen Shower For Salvation Army

Mrs. Colonel V. Lundgren, of St. Louis, was the guest speaker at a special Home League meeting held at the Salvation Army temple Thursday.

After the luncheon, in which Mrs. Lundgren and Mrs. Frank Leach were present, a meeting was held for just Home League members, in which thirty women were present. In the afternoon, from 2:00 to 5:00 a kitchen shower was held in which the business women of the city brought kitchen articles of red and white. Refreshments were served. The Home League has remodeled the kitchen in red and white and are planning for a big program for the ensuing year.

A Cry From Tortured China

For more than three years China has been overrun by Japanese armies, her cities bombed from the air, her ports shelled from the sea. Hundreds of thousands have been killed. Many more thousands have died from exposure, starvation, and disease.

For the most part China has fought alone. She has stood up against awful odds. But there are limits to the agony men and women can endure. To emphasize this, it is only necessary to quote one paragraph from a recent report from Hong Kong by Madam Chiang Kai-shek, wife of the head of the Chinese government and commander of its armies.

* * *

This Chinese Christian woman, appealing to Americans of all creeds, said:

"The temporary closing of the Burma Road has so depleted our medical supplies that major operations are still being performed without anesthetics. The sight of men and women and children being tortured in agony, and our utter helplessness to alleviate their pain, are experiences which I hope will never be known by other people."

To try to bring some help to China, a China Emergency Relief Committee has been formed, largely by the same people who a few months ago constituted the Women's Committee of Tribute to China.

That voluntary committee did its bit toward relieving the terrible suffering of Chinese soldiers and civilians. It furnished 200 base hospitals with sterilizers so badly needed when operations are performed, and 50 hospitals with modern surgical implements to take the place of crude ones hammered hastily out of pieces of old iron. It gave 200 hospitals much-wanted microscopes. In addition, it supplied 150,000 doses of abatrine for the treatment of 35,000 people suffering from malignant malaria, about one million quinine tablets for the further fight against malaria epidemics and 350,000 doses of sulphathiazole, the so-called "magic bullet" used in coping with bubonic plague.

* * *

Even these figures are not impressive when compared with the terrible needs of a stricken people whose numbers run into uncounted millions.

There is, as a consequence, one more urgent call to American charity. Everybody recognizes that the appeals to that charity are seemingly endless. America is asked to alleviate hunger and suffering all over the world.

China has one very big claim to help: in resisting Japan, she is resisting and maybe helping to exhaust a warmaking totalitarian state none too friendly to the United States.

• The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson and Robert S. Allen

WASHINGTON—The inside story of the CIO convention was the dramatic duel of wits between the greatest showman in organized labor and the greatest strategist.

Each scored in keeping with his character. John L. Lewis, the mop-haired consumate actor, boomed triumphantly through all the oratorical skirmishes and press headlines. Sidney Hillman, the softspoken master tactician, won the battle for control.

During the first three days, Lewis held all the trump cards—plus the spotlight. Although he had promised to resign, he was bent on retaining a firm grip on the CIO helm. To this end he had packed the committees with left-wing henchmen and rigged the convention machinery so that he was boss of the show.

With the stage carefully set, Lewis set out to provoke the Hillman-led Amalgamated Clothing and Textile Workers, the core of the opposition, to bolt the convention. That would have left the numerically stronger opposition, helpless and barred the election of Phil Murray, who refused to take the CIO presidency unless assured of a free hand. With Murray out of the way, the left-wingers could have either "drafted" Lewis or elected a complaisant stooge.

This was the precarious situation when Hillman rushed to Atlantic City and took personal command of the battle. Thursday afternoon, after a long night of conferring, he took the platform. Hillman didn't make a speech. He is not a stump spieler. He talked, in the same quiet, conversational tones he uses when seated at his desk.

There were no fireworks and no histronics, but there was a lot of unanswerable logic.

Saved CIO From Split

When Hillman finished, Lewis had lost the battle. The opposition unions, which Lewis had cowed with scorching rhetoric and the packed committees, took the offensive behind Hillman. The noisy but weak left wing caved in. Murray got the assurances he demanded and 24 hours later, Lewis, crooning a tearful swan song, surrendered the gavel.

The upset of John L. Lewis was not the only feather in Hillman's cap. Equally great a triumph was keeping the CIO from splitting wide open.

Certain Communist elements, operating on the "rule or ruin" principle, were bent on splitting the CIO if balked from winning control. That would have meant chaos in the labor movement, the end of any hope for AFL-CIO peace, and a smashing blow to the Roosevelt administration.

The true measure of Hillman's strategic mastery was that he tied the can to his opponent in such a deft manner that Lewis' followers could not erupt. They would have done so at the drop of the hat had Hillman given voice to one word of personal feeling against Lewis.

But Hillman knew that a personal attack was just what Lewis wanted, had tried for months to provoke. And he has fought too many battles in his 24 years as a union leader to fall into that kind of a trap. He suppressed his personal anger and kept the fight to the ground on which Lewis couldn't win—that the CIO was bigger than any one man and all forces must unite to preserve their common gains.

"Compromiser"

A pet taunt of Hillman's left-wing foes is that he is a compromiser. They are right and wrong. Hillman is a compromiser on details, but never on principles.

It was "compromises" such as the one at Atlantic City which beat the unbeatable Lewis that have won Hillman the deserved reputation of being the most astute strategist in organized labor, and that have built the Amalgamated Clothing Workers into one of the six most powerful unions in the country.

Old Amalgamated associates are fond of the story of a Hillman compromise that 23 years ago won the fledgling union its first major wage victory.

The union, only one year old, had gone on strike for more pay and after a costly fight the employers finally agreed to arbitrate. A neutral chairman was appointed, and he opened the meeting by bluntly asking the employers, "Well, what's your offer?"

After a hurried huddle they announced, hesitantly, "A one dollar raise."

"We'll take it," snapped Hillman with a suddenness that made the employers blink. It also caused some of the union officials, later, to question Hillman's judgment. They said that if he had held out, more might have been obtained.

"Yes, we probably could have got more," Hillman replied, "but what good would that have been if it made the shops move to another town where we are not yet organized? These shops can't pay more than $1 at present. When the bosses can afford more, we'll make them give it."

Banker and Business Man

Hillman and his little union have gone a long way since then. They got a lot more from the bosses, and they also gave back a lot.

The clothing industry is one of the most stable in the country; the union has never broken an agreement; it has loaned money, once $200,000, to owners to keep factories operating; and has voluntarily reduced wages when hard times hit.

Fifty-three years old, slender, with his curly black hair untouched by gray, Hillman locks and dresses like a conservative business man. Nothing about his suggests the traditional labor leader. His one passion is work.

For many years he has fought employers to reduce the work-week. The base week of the Amalgamated is 35 hours. But a 12-hour day is a normal one for Hillman, and it's a rare Sunday when he doesn't spend at least a few hours at a desk. Some years ago, in the midst of a bitter organization battle in Philadelphia, he was ordered to a hospital for an operation. Four hours after he emerged from the ether he held a council-of-war at his bedside.

Ordinarily calm and unruffled, Hillman has two violent aversions—unauthorized strikes and Communism. He has fought them relentlessly throughout his career, with the doctrine that labor must be "industry conscious." Hillman believes in helping industry to operate efficiently and prosperously so that labor can demand a greater share of the profits.

"We cannot ask from industry more than it can afford to give," he says. "That's a Communistic practice—to disrupt an industry. When labor does that it defeats itself."

Hillman & Knudsen

Several months after Hillman had been appointed to the Defense Commission, his fellow member William Knudsen, former General Motors boss and another one-time immigrant boy, remarked admiringly, "Sidney, you know as much about business as I do."

"Well, I ought to know something about it, Bill," was the quiet answer. "My union owns and operates two banks and several large low-cost housing projects for our members, and we collaborate very closely with factory owners in regulating the industry."

Hillman also might have added that as head of this large organization he received a salary of $7,500 a year—less than a third of that paid Lewis and about one-twelfth of Knudsen's check.

The Dough Boy Speaks—

"Hi, Junior! What are you thinking about, looking down at me so intently from Tom Bast's second story window? But why should I ask—I know what you are thinking because I can read your mind now. I am part of the composite spirit of all the buddies that died in the last World War. I am the Dough Boy atop the pedestal in front of the court house.

"Remember when we were kids and played shinny golf on the old prairie adjoining Pfeiffer's greenhouse; the spring Saturdays when we used to hike out to Thatcher's Ford for an all day swim without bathing suits; the Hallowe'en pranks we used to perpetrate together with the Tenth street gang? Remember the picture you took of Pete Brandt and Frank Armstrong and a lot of other happy-go-lucky kids? Remember the fun we used to have in your backyard shack and the time Leuking was hit in the head with a brick during a sham battle. I know how he felt. It flashed across my mind when I was dropped by a bullet on a French battlefield. Funny thing how childhood memory flashes back at a time like that. Remember how we used to get scratched up on the Broadway school yard cinders. Then the last time we sat together in Dean Walter Williams' journalism class at M. U. That was the last time I saw you—in the spring of 1917. Then came the war, the mud and horror of French battlefields. It was a dirty business. I can see the futility of it now because a new generation is drifting toward a holocaust of like gruesomeness to make the world safe for democracy. I hope the youngsters of 1941 can make it stick this time. As in the past, so it will be in this war; after the blood-letting peace will come only when men sit around a table.

"Armistic day they placed flowers before me in tribute to all the Pettis county veterans who gave their life in the last war. They do this every year. We of the spirit world treasure this annual remembrance. Day after day, year after year, we stand silently before the public gaze in much the same appearance as though we had just gone over the top from a filthy and muddy trench. It was not a pleasant sight, but one we'd like to forget now that we are back home. We'd like for the folks to see us portrayed, perhaps unnaturally, in a spic and span uniform, washed and clean. The gray and purple hue of tarnished metal of which we now are made, does not become us well. It is too truly realistic of something we abhor. What a finer tribute than flowers if we could have a bath; a sparkling rejuvenation that would last. It can be done with acids that will not sear us now.

"I know that is what you are thinking of as you gaze down upon me because I can read your mind. We buddies have talked about the same thing many times, but have never been able to get across the spiritual dividing line. Tell the home folks about it. I'm sure they will respond when they know that what we want most is a bath."

Photographer Robert Boyd made this amusing picture of a pig-tailed little girl looking cross-eyed at a butterfly which has settled on her nose, and Edward Steichen, dean of American photographers, selected it as one of the best photos of 1940. Outdoor Yule Lights Spread Joy For All

Clever Use of a Few Strings of Christmas-tree Lights and Well-placed "Projector" Floodlight Lamps Can Transform a Home into a Glowing Greeting of Good Will.

By Jean Prentice

NEVER before have world events so meaningly driven home to Americans the desire for "Peace on Earth . . . Good Will Toward Men".

Before the era of electric lights, men were obliged to confine the expression of their Christmas spirit indoors. Symbolizing this spirit were the be-candled indoor tree, sprigs of holly, gaily wrapped gifts, and the common greeting card.

Came a new day, the advent of the colorful multiple burning Christmas-tree lamps like glowing jewels on a string. Came "projector" lamps designed for outdoor flood and spotlighting. Last holiday season entire neighborhoods, through light, were transformed into veritable fairylands. The custom of expressing the Yule spirit outside has grown by leaps and bounds. This distinctly American tradition will doubtless reach a new peak this season.

Black-outs may be the order in lands less fortunate than ours. Over here, countless thousands of home-owners, unafraid, again have the opportunity to join up with the millions who each year at this time illuminate their holiday spirit, letting it flow outside for all to enjoy.

Quite a display can be created by simply attaching some evergreens around the front door and windows. By fastening strings of Christmas-tree lamps to the greens and by running an extension cord to a nearby electrical outlet, most of the jobs is done.

An added note of beauty may be had through use of the new 150-watt "projector" lamps. Reflector, lens, and filament are hermetically sealed into each of these rugged all-glass lamps. They may be placed close to the house to silhouette a theme message or to spread their light upward in striking fan patterns. Used at a distance, these lamps will "flood" or "spot" larger areas. Holders are available for these bell-shaped lamps.

And now, just one more hint. When shopping for your Christmas lighting equipment, see a reliable retailer of electrical goods. Tell him your plans. Buy only high quality lamps of American make. They must burn under adverse weather conditions, you know. Besides, the best lights prove to be the cheapest in the long run.

It requires only about one and one-third seconds for the light of the moon to reach the earth.

Unrest in conquered France is not limited to Frenchmen. It is spreading so rapidly to the German army of occupation that an average of two Nazi soldiers a day are committing suicide. Good Progress In Sewing And Knitting For War Sufferers

Mrs. Arthur Kahn, chairman of production for the Pettis county chapter of the American Red Cross, announces that of the large quota for garments for the war sufferers, all but 18 children's dresses and 35 women's dresses have been placed, and most of the articles are already in the making.

In many instances homemakers have asked to do the sewing in their homes during leisure hours and this has added to the production work being accomplished by church circles and community groups. It is urged that any individual who cannot attend the organization sewing meetings, and who has the time to contribute, make application at the Red Cross headquarters for garments.

Time Is Extended

Word was received this weekend from the Red Cross Midwestern Area headquarters in St. Louis, that because of the Christmas holidays the time for the completion of the quota, the biggest so far received, has been extended to the middle of January. Original plans asked that the work be finished in December.

In addition to dresses, skirts, layettes and hospital garments being made, a quota of 200 children's sweaters, 100 for women and 50 for men, as well as shawls and mufflers, has been assigned to the knitting department. While Red Cross knitters are to be found at home, club meetings and social gatherings, there still is 100 pounds of yarn that must be called for by volunteers, Mrs. Harold Dean, chairman, reports.

Both the sewing and knitting have been going forward rapidly and it is hoped that the workers will continue their fine services even through the more crowded days, so that the assignments will be completed on time.

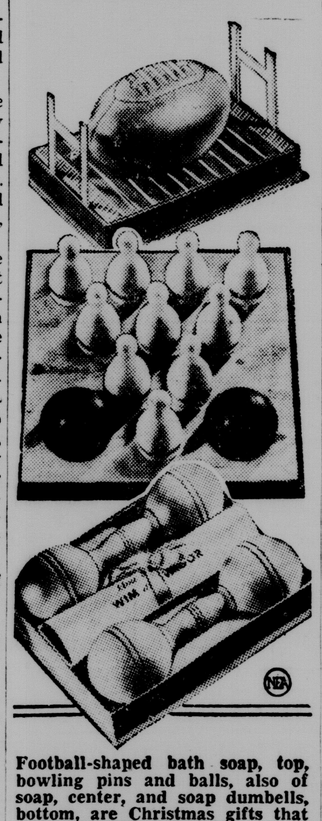
A typical American countryside scene is charmingly done in the water color at upper left, by Harold Denison. The newest type of religious card is shown in the center, above, painted by the noted artist Adolf Dehn. Below it is a chubby Santa Claus playing a bit of polo. The Santas on the smartest of this year's greeting cards invariably are shown being extremely active.



Football-shaped bath soap, top, bowling pins and balls, also of soap, center, and soap dumbells, bottom, are Christmas gifts that will please the men in the family, from father to little brother.

Told She Needs "Good Strapping"

Comely model Arabella ("Bunny") Hartley "needs a good strapping," she was told by New York magistrate William Ringel. He was irate because she haled ex-husband to court on assault charge, then withdrew accusation, later failed to appear to answer cop's charge of disorderly conduct, and in general had things a-dither. She's pictured after judge gave her ten days in workhouse, suspended pending good behavior.

YESTERDAY: Andre is unusually interested in the Mexican girl. Working with her, he decides, will be a pleasure. If his plans succeed. . . . He buys a car, installs himself as a guest at a dude ranch. At a filling station he sees the Montoya girl again, overhears some story about Ronnie's bravery.

RONNIE TO THE RESCUE

CHAPTER VI

RONICA BAILEY felt that utter despair, born of terror, when danger is all around you and nothing is to be done.

She had slipped off her horse and crept forward afoot in sheer adventure spirit and curiosity. She lacked even the pearl-handled pistol that stayed in her plane. So, she couldn't flee and she couldn't fight, and a hundred yards off an American officer was battling with five desperate men. She peeked out between two rocks.

Actually, she had a side view of the little battlefield. She could see all five of the aliens—two of whom unmistakably were dead or wounded now. Suddenly she observed that Starr was no longer shooting.

"O-o-o-oh!" It was almost a moan. "I wonder if he is—is dead!"

Fury began to replace the fear that assailed her, because those aliens had shot at her once earlier in this day and she had done nothing to cause it. She decided now that she must go back for help.

Whatever had Mr. Starr meant, coming out here single-handed anyway? She crept back toward their horses. Her own had been tied near his.

When she got there she saw the stock of the rifle in Starr's saddle scabbard. She remembered he had worn two side arms, but—

Then Ronica did a characteristic if foolhardy thing. She took the officer's gun, opened it part way to see that it was loaded, and started right back to the spot she had fled from.

Even before she got there she heard more shots.

* * *

"ALL right!" she heard Starr yell, and was happy for it. "Come out of that with your hands up! Manos arriba!"

He mixed his commands in English and Spanish, but the tone, not the actual words, told Ronica of his desperation. Somehow she knew he was bluffing, possibly hurt.

She crept to a huge boulder, then dropped to hands and knees and started crawling. She had the side view of the battlefield now, and by moving from rock to rock, she came within 50 yards of the embattled men. Then she paused behind a rock about hip high.

"I c-can shoot from here!" She said it, and she was physically calmer than she imagined she could be. Muscles were tense. She lifted the rifle, rested on the boulder, and took a perfect, nerveless aim—a sharp bead right through the sights and onto the torso of a man dressed in dark clothing. Only the poorest of shots could have missed.

"No! No-no!" She murmured that, too. Not aloud, but to herself. Try as she would, Ronica Bailey could not thus shoot down any man!

All at once she shouted.

"MR. STARR! I'M HERE! YOU MEN—YOU BETTER DO WHAT HE SAYS!"

Her words sounded inadequate, silly, she realized. Muscles had begun to tremble, and now she was too utterly frightened to speak with anything like the threat and menace she had meant to put into her voice.

Instantly, somebody turned and shot at her.

She didn't try again to call out or aim closely. She just shot back.

The rifle thumped her shoulder. She sat back, astonished, and gazed at the thing before she thought to pump in a fresh shell. Quickly then she raised up and shot again.

All at once she heard voices calling, and while she didn't understand the words, she did hear Starr. She peered over her rock again to see three of the men standing, arms high. They glanced first toward her and then toward Starr, who was coming forward now with both pistols drawn.

She saw him handcuff the men together, but when she heard him call out to her she was shaking too much to answer.

* * *

ON the front porch of the Rocking R Ranch, Thomas U. Bailey sat staring fondly at his daughter. She had been home less than an hour, and the tan, strong-faced Border Patrol officer had done most of the talking so far.

"Well, I'll be eternally damned!" Mr. Bailey repeated himself often. "Ronnie, you'll get into scrapes no matter where I put you. I had thought that out here—"

"Hold on, Mr. Bailey," Officer Starr interrupted. "If it hadn't been for her, I'd be a corpse, and no fooling! They thought I had big help. I admit I shouldn't have let her go along, but she said she could show me the right place, and—well she just kept insisting, and—"

"I know just how it is, Mr Starr! I am her father, but I—"

Even Ronnie smiled then. "You'd think I was a terror," she said.

"No, ma'am," Starr resumed. "But I am here to say this—whenever you want anything from the U. S. Border Patrol—anything in the world, miss—why you just whistle. And you, too, Mr. Bailey. As you know, we have a force of men guarding the line between the U. S. and Mexico to catch aliens slipping in and narcotic smuggling and any criminals we can. And if it hadn't been for Miss Ronnie here—"

"You say those were not Mexicans, Mr. Starr?" Bailey asked.

"No, sir. Japanese. Hadn't expected that. We don't catch many here."

"And they weren't aliens, after all, but American born?"

"Yes, sir. They had proof of that. Fingerprint records, photos, birth certificates, everything. All I can file against 'em is an unlawful weapon charge, and resisting an officer, and they can plead misunderstanding and mistaken identity and all to that, even. But that don't make Miss Ronnie's help any less impor—"

"I know, I know, Mr. Starr. But—see here, what would five men be doing out on the desert that way?" Mr. Bailey's face was intent now. He looked closely at the officer.

"Said they was hunting."

"You—believe that?"

"Well, no sir. Nothing to hunt now. Especially with just pistols."

"Um," Mr. Bailey meditated a moment. "Look here, Mr. Starr, you appear to be a level-headed man. And you are a federal officer. I—Ronnie, call Fabian to bring out some refreshments, eh?"

Ronica, slightly surprised, nevertheless got up to obey. Fabian, the Mexican cook, would be in the rear somewhere, she knew.

* * *

WHEN she was gone, Mr. Bailey spoke again to the Border Patrol man, but in low tone.

"Mr. Starr, do you know why I am out here? Besides my health, I mean?"

"I have my ideas, sir. Nothing official yet, but—well, I know you manufacture bombing planes, and there's a new bomb sight, and—"

"Exactly, Starr! Now, sir—about these men, do you suspect what I suspect?"

Officer Starr nodded. Ronica was back on the porch.

The England-Australia route, for which the stamp above was issued, began in December, 1934. U. S.-Australia airmail was inaugurated last July.

Trans-Pacific Clippers, flying the U. S.-Honolulu-Manila-Hong Kong route have flown 3,715,553 route miles, transported 13,480,000 letters and 6481 passengers since 1935. The 442nd North Pacific crossing was completed during the anniversary week.

PATTERN 8802

Sailor styles are more than ever smart this fall, and since they're equally becoming to brother and sister, it's a good idea to use the same sailor design for both your young hopefuls. This pattern, No. 8802, is easy to make, and very practical for play and kindergarten. With it, you can make brother's suit and sister's frock, both. They are basically the same, yet brother's suit is as masculine as his whistle, while sister's frock is just as feminine (although much more correct!) as her upside-down doll. The pleats in her skirt give it such a pretty flare, and the sleeves puff out like little balloons.

The classic material for these sailor fashions is navy flannel with white braid; they're cute in brown or red jersey, too.

Pattern No. 8802 is designed for sizes 2, 3, 4, 5 years. Size 3 requires 2¼ yards of 36-inch material without nap for frock; 3½ yards braid; 2⅛ yards for suit and 4 yards of braid. Step-by-step
